TRIPLE AIR RAID ON AXIS

Trapped German Forces Seeking To Make Escape From Caucasus

Soviet Armies Cut Off Retreat Of More Germans

Nazi Forces Below Rostov Face Desperate Situation To Escape

ONLY AVENUE IS OVER KERCH STRAIT

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—Adolf Hitler's Caucasus army is in full retreat by way of the only route left open—the Kerch straits—the British radio reported today in a broadcast heard by CBS.

The broadcast said the Germans were leaving all their heavy equipment to the pursuing Russians. It added:

"One German unit after another is now making the hazardous crossing of the straits under the guns of the Russian Black sea fleet."

MOSCOW, Feb. 5.—Soviet armies, cutting off the retreat of Nazi forces below Rostov, surged forward today across the western Caucasus toward both the Sea of Azov and the Black Sea in an attempt to trap the Germans before they can escape into the Crimea across the Kerch Strait.

While Red army land forces advanced westward Soviet commando units were reported landing on the Black Sea coast to cut off escape of the Axis remnants.

Japs Employing New Tactics In Pacific Battle

Feint At Many Points In Attempt To Confuse American Forces

NO DETAILS GIVEN ON SEA CONFLICT

By JOSEPH A. BORS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—Meager official reports on the week-end "mystery battle" between American and Japanese forces in the south Pacific indicated today the enemy is stabbing and feinting at many points in the hope of scattering U. S. sea and air units to break up their striking power.

That the Japanese obviously are employing new tactics designed to confuse the American high command was intimated in a navy communique which reiterated that details of current series of engagements would not be revealed to prevent giving the enemy vital information.

No Details Given

"Details concerning recurrent engagements between U. S. air and surface forces and those of the enemy will not be announced as long as such information might jeopardize the safety of our forces in the area of operations," the navy said.

Officially the navy still refuses to call the latest action in the Guadalcanal area a "battle," despite the fact that U. S. and Japanese task forces and air units have clashed at various points and there have been losses on both sides.

Navy men asserted that the policy of maintaining silence on progress of the "series of engagements" was sound because disclosure of details of one or more of the actions might give the Japs information about the disposition and strength of the American forces.

Unique Movements

The Japanese movements during the past week have been unique so far as the Solomons campaign is concerned. Previously, the Japs merely gathered their fleet and invasion units together and attacked in the hope of overwhelming the American defenders.

Five such attempts were made previously by the Japs, and in each case American sea and air forces smashed the enemy forces or drove them off with heavy losses. This time, however, the enemy apparently is moving cautiously.

While these numerous "feeler" btatles (or skirmishes) have been in progress, the tempo of action on and around Guadalcanal itself has been increasing, indicating both sides are attempting to gain advantages locally as well as at sea.

On the nights of Feb. 1-2 and Feb. 2-3, Japanese planes raided American positions on Guadalcanal but results were not reported. American airmen retaliated with a bombing attack against Munda on New Georgia Island, where they caused explosions and started fires.

On land, U. S. ground troops continued their advance against Jap soldiers still hiding on Guadalcanal and in the latest thrust seized heights that dominate the Tassafaronga area.

Germany, Italy And France Are Hit By Bombers

Triple Attack Is Made By R. A. F.—Simultaneous Raids On Three Countries

SUBMARINE BASES ARE AMONG TARGETS

By CHARLES A. SMITH
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Feb. 5.—Germany, Italy and France were bombed simultaneously during the night in the Royal Air Force's largest aerial operation of the war against both European members of the Axis, the air ministry announced today.

A great weight of bombs were dropped on industrial northern Italy, war production centers in Germany's Ruhr Valley and the Nazi-held submarine base at Lorient, France.

The sweeping attacks were the most powerful ever carried out against widely separated targets and constituted the first "tri-country" attack since 1940 when there were small-scale raids against enemy airdromes throughout Europe.

Turin, Italy's largest industrial center, and the naval base of Spezia, 50 miles south of the bomb-blasted port of Genoa, were heavily attacked.

It was the first time in the course of the war that the bomber command had sent its planes over all three of the major continental nations to attack objectives in Germany, Italy and France.

"Turin, center of the Italian automobile industry, was heavily bombed in excellent weather," the air ministry said.

"The defenses, although clearly strengthened, were no more effective than in December."

Turin was last attacked by home-based British bombers Dec. 11 when the R. A. F. concluded a two-month series of assaults against industrial northern Italy. The flight across the Alps from England involves a round trip journey of some 1,500 miles.

"The naval base of Spezia also was bombed," the communique continued.

"The submarine base at Lorient was the target of another force of bombers."

Twenty Six German Aircraft Destroyed On Tunisian Front

(International News Service)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Feb. 5.—The largest single day's "bag" of enemy planes was chalked up for the United States army air force in Tunisia today with official disclosure that 26 German craft were destroyed in a series of violent air combats yesterday.

Ten American planes were lost, including one Flying Fortress and four Lockheed Lightnings.

Flying Fortresses attacking the airfield and landing ground at Gabes in two formations accounted for 25 German Messerschmitt and Focke-Wulf fighters, while another Nazi plane was shot down elsewhere during the day.

One of the two Fortress formations in a running fight 50 miles after it had left the Gabes target destroyed 15 enemy fighters, while the other accounted for ten. Both formations damaged 26 additional German planes.

The Fortresses plastered both the main airfield at Gabes and a temporary landing ground five miles to the west with many heavy-calibre bombs, starting half a dozen fires in the aircraft dispersal areas. Large columns of smoke were seen.

Finland Peace Rumor Appears To Be Premature

By KINGSBURY SMITH
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—Authoritative sources in Washington today described as premature rumors that Finland is ready to seek a separate peace with Russia.

So far, no such overtures have been made by the Finnish government or by any other responsible representative of that country.

Nevertheless, the American government is hoping that Finland will decide to seek a peace settlement with Russia soon. The United States is understood to be willing to use its good offices in helping to bring about such a settlement providing the initial move is made by Finland.

Russia offered to discuss a separate peace settlement with Finland as far back as August, 1941. That offer, which was transmitted to the Finnish minister in Washington by the American government, was rejected by Finland. This government now feels that it is up to Finland to make the first move.

While the United States still is willing to act as mediator, the view prevails in authoritative quarters that the time is rapidly running short when the good offices of this government could be effectively utilized in bringing about a satisfactory peace settlement between Finland and the Soviet Union.

Unless Finland acts quickly to take advantage of American mediation, it is feared the opportunity will pass and this government will be unable to exert any influence with Russia on behalf of Finland.

New Propaganda Move Seen In Reports Being Circulated About Nazis

By WILLIAM WADE
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Feb. 5.—Although Hitler's apparent absence from Berlin and other official circles and his continued silence intrigues diplomatic quarters, persistent reports of his death must be regarded as "greatly exaggerated," informed sources said today.

The view is held that these reports, which culminated in a broadcast last night in New York by the former American Ambassador to Russia, Joseph Davies, should be greeted with the same large grain of salt as stories from Stockholm sources, Rome and elsewhere regarding a pending German peace offensive.

Among the latest "peace offensive" rumors is one that Hitler supposedly will retire in favor of a military government.

Patrols Active On Tunis Border

(International News Service)

CAIRO, Feb. 5.—Patrols of the British Eighth army are active on various sectors along the Tunisian border adjacent to Tripolitania, the Middle East high command reported today.

While ground forces probed the Axis defenses in the direction of the little Maginot Mareth line Allied fighter bombers continued attacks against small enemy shipping off the Tunisian coast.

Fires were started in a new bombing assault against the Sicilian port of Palermo Wednesday night, it was revealed.

American Bombers Are Used In Attacks Says Report From New Delhi

THOUSAND POUND BOMBS ARE DROPPED

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)

NEW DELHI, Feb. 5.—The British Royal Air Force, employing American-made B-24 Liberator bombers, last night heavily attacked the docks and sidings in Japanese-held Rangoon, Burma, the British India command announced today.

Large fires were started in the target area by 1,000-pound bombs dropped from the Liberators.

It was the first time that official reference has been made in a communique to the use of Liberator Consolidated bombers by the R. A. F. in the India war theater.

British ground forces were said to be continuing their pressure against Japanese troops in the northwest Arakan area above the port of Akyab despite bitter opposition.

Two fierce Japanese counter-attacks were reported repulsed in the Donbaik area.

Predict Dim-Out For Pittsburgh

Lighting Expert Advises Reduction Of "Beacon Glare In Sky" In Wartime

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 5.—A permanent war-time "dim-out" for Pittsburgh and other inland industrial cities to reduce the "beacon glare in the sky" was predicted today by Samuel G. Hibben, national lighting expert who is an advisor to army and civilian defense officials.

He told the American Physical Society that such dim-outs would probably become "a part of your routine life," explaining:

"Lights glaring into the sky cause a beacon effect, a sky glow that leads aviators right to an industrial center. It helps him if he needs that guidance but there are some who question if he needs it. Those cities with strategic industries will probably be the first to experience the dim-out.

"Traffic signals and street lights will suffer first of all. Street lighting under dim-out conditions will be 20 per cent of normal to reduce skybrightness."

Hibben is director of applied lighting for the Westinghouse Lamp Division in New Jersey.

SOVIET ARMIES CUT OFF RETREAT OF MORE GERMANS

city. Other Red army units were advancing on the Ukraine city of Kursk from three directions.

At noon the Soviet high command said that the Red army was continuing to move forward south of Rostov after overcoming German resistance.

"One unit in a two-hour engagement routed a battalion of infantry and destroyed its tanks," the communique said.

"On another sector our forces occupied a large inhabited locality, taking prisoners and booty."

At another point on the trans-Caucasian front Soviet tankmen waging offensive attacks broke through the Nazi defenses and wiped out a battalion of infantry.

Recapture Towns

Several inhabited localities came back into Russian hands as the Red army streaked across the Krasny-Liman front midway between Kharkov and Kursk.

The Germans at one point brought up strong forces of reserves and threw numerous tanks into action but the Russians dealt the two attacking enemy regiments a severe blow by sending in Soviet air force units to aid their ground units. Some 500 Nazis were wiped out and 18 tanks destroyed in the action.

In the area of captured Kupyansk, 65 miles southeast of the steel city of Kharkov, the Soviets occupied a favorable position after wiping out two companies of German infantry. Prisoners and booty also were captured.

Take 1,480 Prisoners

Eastward of menaced Kursk, the high command said, the Red army successfully maintained its offensive. One Red army formation took material. A number of inhabited localities were seized on other sectors where the Soviets fought down enemy resistance consistently.

(A Berlin broadcast admitted landings by Russian commando forces on the Taman Peninsula, separated from the Crimea by a narrow strait.

("One raiding force, covered by guns of the Russina Black Sea fleet, gained a foothold on the Taman Peninsula," said a DNB broadcast from Berlin. Russian columns were reported near Novorossisk, Black Sea port. Red army units attacked from the south and from the north, inside the lines held by the Axis. This admission suggested that Soviet landing parties have also gone ashore north of Novorossisk which the Germans had planned to use as a debarkation point for the "Russian Dunkirk.")

Other Russian columns were reported driving towards the Taman Peninsula from the east. One sperahead reached Minskaya, 35 miles from Yeisk, a port on the Sea of Azov. Another Russian force captured Kagalnitskaya, 33 miles southwest of Rostov and within 40 miles of the Azov shore.

Remnants of 25 Axis divisions badly battered by the Russian offensive, were believed in the Caucasus trap. Estimates of the survivors varied from 10,000 to 250,000. All roads of escape by the sea were cut off by the rapid Russian advance on Rsotov. The encircled Axis forces had the choice of bridging the Kerch Strait to the Crimea, or crossing the narrow northern army of the Sea of Azov to the mainland west of Rostov.

Latest battlefront reports said that Soviet troops had narrowed the Rostov gap to only fifteen miles. The tretreating Germans were being driven steadily toward ice-locked Taganrog Bay.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The British radio, according to CBS, reported that German troops in the area north of Orel were being hampered in their retreat by storms of blizzard intenstiy "while columns of big Russian tanks plow their way through the deep drifting snow, creating chaos among the German supply lines.")

paign currently afloat aimed at convincing the world that Bolshevism is its greatest danger should the Nazi armies be completely routed from Russia and the Soviet drive westward into Europe.

It is admitted in informed quarters that Germany has plenty of worries at the moment but attention is called to an editorial in the Evening Star which states:

"We suspect there is a catch somewhere . . . in this present outburst of German gloom."

This gloom is evidenced by the orders directing funeral music to be played by the German radio from now until Saturday for the Nazi armies annihilated at Stalingrad. Because of this the belief rose that possibly Hitler himself had died. It was heightened by the fact that the German leader failed to appear last Saturday to speak to the German people on the 10th anniversary of his appointment as chancellor of the Reich. His address was read by propaganda Minister Joseph Goebbel.

To Close Shops

New emphasis was laid on the stress in Germany by a decree ordering all commercial establishments not absolutely necessary to be closed.

The Reich minister for economy, Dr. Walther Funk, ordered that commercial enterprises unessential to supplying the German population be closed not only to conserve raw materials but also to release more manpower for war work and the army.

The order involves the closing of between 100,000 and 120,000 German retail shops by the middle of March. German broadcasts of the decree said that the closure order will involve one-third of the remaining retail shops and will release 300,000 persons for other duties.

Notice was given also to arts and crafts professions to release all dispensable labor for national emergency service.

GERMANY, ITALY AND FRANCE ARE HIT BY BOMBERS

weather over the much-bombed Lorient submarine pens and the bombing was "heavy and concentrated", the air ministry said.

"Targets in the Ruhr were bomoed in the course of reconnaissance flights over Germany.

"Three planes are missing."

Follows U. S. Attack

Last night's attack came only a few hours after United States heavy bombers carried out the second all-American attack on the Reich by raiding western Germany. Less than 24 hours before the R. A. F. subjected the German port of Hamburg to its second heavy assault within five days.

The raid was the first on northern Italy by bombers based in England since mid-December when a series of attacks were carried out against the industrial city of Turin. Frequent attacks have been made since on Naples and objectives in southern Italy by both British and American planes based in the middle east.

Presence of the British night raiders caused Axis radio transmitters in the path of the planes streaking out over the Alps from England to go off the air. Stations in southern Germany also went silent. The transmitters at Leipzig, Munich, Stuttgart and Luxembourg closed down.

Heaviest Daylight Raid

It was understood that the American raid on northwest Germany made by big Boeing Flying Fortress bombers was the heaviest allied daylight attack to which Germany has been subjected. Also it was one of the heaviest attacks made by the United States air force planes anywhere on the Nazi-held continent.

Some of the most terrific aerial combats of the war were fought when German fighter planes challenged the American raiders from the moment the eighth air force bombers sighted Reich territory.

The attack on Spezia submarine building center 50 miles south and east of the large port of Genoa, was the first of the war. Undersea craft are built at the naval base there in the yards of the Oderterni-Orlando Construction company.

HISTORY WAS MADE AT STALINGRAD

AFTER 162 DAYS the siege of Stalingrad has been smashed by the amazing Red Army and Hitler's boast that "the occupation of Stalingrad will become a gigantic success" has been thrown back in his face.

Whatever the accuracy of the estimate that 500,000 of Germany's best soldiers were slain or captured in the heroic stand of the Russian Verdun, there is no question that history was made at Stalingrad and that the Nazis have been dealt a crushing defeat.

It is characteristic of the Soviet's fighting men, however, that they are not resting on their laurels. In the arc around Rostov they are pushing on, winning back town after town, intent upon bottling the huge German forces trying to escape from the Caucasus.

Certainly we can be glad that through the medium of lend-lease we have provided a substantial quantity of planes, tanks and other goods to support the Russians' gallant war effort. But the need is not yet past. We should continue rushing to the Red Army's aid all the war materials we can spare from our own immediate and imperative requirements.

Meanwhile, with the British, we must prepare for an all-out attack, at the earliest possible moment, upon Nazi-occupied Europe.

"RATIONALIZING" INDUSTRY

There is put out at Washington a prospectus, as it were, of a plan for "rationalizing" American industry as a means of increasing war production. The plan is stated to be in the "final stages" of consideration by the war production board. The complete anonymity maintained by the sponsors suggests that the disclosure of the plan in this way is for the purpose of feeling out public sentiment.

What is meant by rationalizing, it is explained, is to make an entire industry function as a single manufacturer. That is to say, instead of having various companies in a given industry manufacturing a score of different objects, each unit would be required to concentrate on a few products. In addition, production would be limited to one type instead of several or more.

By this means, it is represented, bottlenecks in production would be eliminated with a larger volume of output of the things that the nation needs.

For industry this would involve a high degree of standardization of systems, designs and types, along with rigorous control of competition and the channeling of war demands through a central point. Any such setup demands close examination to insure its liquidation after the war.

Although on its face the plan appears to be an adaptation of a plan long advocated by Barney Baruch, more needs to be known about it before that can be said definitely or before the proposal can be appraised with respect to its implications and effects. There should be no question of its being limited to a wartime economy.

But a jarring note is introduced when officials, "who prefer to remain unidentified at this time," after stressing the benefit to war production, go on to add that in peace years the plan would mean more goods at cheaper prices. Suspicion is not allayed by off-hand assurances of safeguards to prevent monopolistic practices and preserve the fundamentals of a free competitive economy when peace comes.

TRYING AXIS HEADS

One important note sounded during the press conference that Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt held at Casablanca concerned the "criminal forces" responsible for this war.

A careful distinction was drawn between the Axis peoples, whom there was no desire to harm, and the "unconditional surrender" of their criminal leaders. Thus there is bound to be renewed discussion of the punishment of these leaders. London dispatches a few weeks ago suggested that an international criminal court to be set up for this purpose.

One thing will occur to anybody who devotes much thought to this proposal: that before individual nations indict and a court of the United Nations tries a man as an international criminal it is going to be necessary to have some ex post facto definition of international crime that would apply to all of the men mentioned.

Further, such a court would have to gets its authority, explicitly, from the United Nations, which, it is safe to say, will not all be of one mind as to the future, once the victory has been won.

The idea of punishing a conquered enemy is as old as war itself. And it bobs up in almost every war when it is in mid-course. Union soldiers were going to "hang Jeff Davis to a sour apple tree," but Mr. Davis, who did, it is true, spend two years in confinement in Fortress Monroe, never had to face the indictment for treason which had been threatened. He died in bed 12 years after his release from prison with his vertebrae intact.

Nobody "punished" Napoleon. He was a veritable hot potato to the Allies. They didn't know what to do with him. He decided. He made himself the "guest" of the British, who in turn, for his remaining seven years, made his domicile a well-guarded Saint Helena.

In World War I there were all sorts of plans to "punish" Kaiser Wilhelm II. But this war is without parallel. It has been marked by unspeakable barbarities, publicly made the policy of the Axis. Precedents have had no weight with the dictators. When the war has been won, there will be a strong urge to make examples of these bullies. Perhaps some form of punishment, further than rendering them helpless and actually inflicted as such, can be devised as a warning for a long time to come.

And speaking of the war fronts, so far as the Axis is concerned the front seems to be getting further back all the time.

Wonder what song, like the St. Louis Blues, they have in Berlin to play every time they get a message from the war front?

It wouldn't be too great punishment for Hitler and Mussolini to tie them to hard bottomed chairs and make them listen to radio advertising for the next ten years.

Hints On Etiquette

When children are very small and have to be frequently corrected at table, it is best that they have their meal before guests arrive for dinner.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

TOTS BEYOND MOTHER'S CONTROL

"Dear Dr. Myers: I have three boys, 16 months, three and a half years, and five years. We live on a farm where none of the neighbors have children. They depend on themselves for companionship.

"The two older boys are my problems. They stand on the furniture, take my pictures down, play on my bed and just yesterday wrote on my mirror with cream. They have a mania for cutting. The house looks like an avalanche of snow had descended.

Obey Their Father

"Their father has always been home to help me with them, but now works away from home and they really have gotten out of hand. You have always said to put them on a chair. I have, but they whine and beg and plead to get down till I do let them and then they are right at it again. I've tried spanking and putting them to bed. Nothing works.

"They mind their father very well and really adore him. He has always spanked them, but when I do it they say, 'That didn't hurt.'

"The three-and-half-year-old had an eye operation last spring as a result of a quarrel between them, and the older one ripped his leg open playing in the barn (which is forbidden). When they start to quarrel, which goes on three quarters of the time, my heart drops to my boots for fear of more physical damage. I blow up very easily and get over it quickly. When I get through scolding them, I haven't the heart to spank them.

"About the chair-sitting, I do that the most, but have you ever had two of them working on you at once to get down? I weaken and they know I will."

The Doctor's Advice

I can sympathize with you for blowing up. Even if you had good control over these youngsters, being with them all day would try any person's nerves.

Your chief trouble is that you use your heart when you ought to use your head—and your hand. Don't use your tongue. Use your hands as the father does.

The chair-sitting punishment will work, with very little change in your method, a little change in yourself. Put a clock where the child can see it. Show him where the long hand must be when he may get down—make it for 20 minutes, at least. Ask him to tell you when the time is up, then go about your work.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. Our baby two and a half years old is very stubborn. We try to teach him to obey but the more we punish him to make him do what we tell him to do the more stubborn he gets.

A. Naturally so. In order to get better results, you should punish him only for the very few things he should never do, but avoid punishing him to get him to do what you want him to do. For example, spank him at once if you see him playing with the fire or gas jet. With endless patience, persuade him to say "Please" or "Thank you" or to bring you the book or shut the door. I am enclosing my special bulletin on "Stubbornness" which explains in great detail how to train your child not to be stubborn but to cooperate.

BROKEN RESOLUTIONS

Those resolutions which I made
Just five short weeks ago
Lie, tattered, broken, bent and frayed;
The reason well I know.

I think I could have coped with me,
But there my triumph ends,
For what I lacked was strength to be
Victorious over friends.

Had I but had myself to fight
The goal I might have won.
But there were those by day and night
Who whispered: "Oh, come on!

"You have but one brief life to live.
Eat, drink and merry be!
Come take what joys Time has to give
While you to take are free."

I might have triumphed though attacked
By all the tempter sends,
I'd strength enough for that, but lacked
The strength to cope with friends.

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 6:23. Sun rises tomorrow 8:05.

A lot of people are pleased when they can pay their taxes no matter how large they are.

You can take all the advice you want to on your income tax, but the government, after all, will have the last to say.

In time of war, atrocities are destructive measures taken by the enemy before you are equipped for the same tactics.

A lot of people have found out that luxuries are not necessities.

When little Clara was about to go to her chum's party her father gave her a few hints on how to comport herself.

"If they ask you to dine with them, you must say, 'No, thank you, I have already dined'."

When she arrived, however, the first thing her chum's father said to her was: "Come, Clara, and have a bite with us."

"No, thank you," replied the mannerly maid. "I have already bitten."

The Japs are brave, but what of it? Any man who lets himself be a target is brave, and no race has a monopoly of courage.

Now that the days are becoming longer, it becomes easier to put off things until tomorrow.

Wish some one would tell us what "political economy" is which we hear so much about.

A young chap called at the Fernfrill home the other evening to see Flossie.

"Is your sister expecting me?" he asked young Aloysius Fernfrill, Flossie's brother.

"Sure."

"How do you know?"

"She just went out," Aloysius explained.

No man is a has-been until he begins to boast of the things he accomplished last year.

Another thing, if people slice only enough bread that they need it will savea lot of it going into the can.

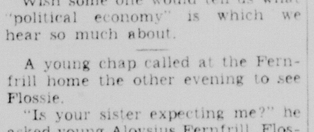
Science has said that the liver not the heart, is the seat of love. Ever hear your liver beating time to your emotions? And try to set this to music, "I love you with all my liver."



You never know what distant friends really think of you till they pass through your town without stopping.

Nobody can please everybody. We have reason to believe we have a few friends. On the other hand there are many people who couldn't think less of us if we were their third cousins.

There will soon be a demand for better substitutes for substitutes.

Politician—I don't believe it. I demand a recount.

Two sailors on leave were traveling by train, one in an upper and the other in the lower berth.

"What was the idea of sending the porter for water all night?" asked the man in the lower the next morning. "You must have got at least a gallon altogether."

"I know it," said the upperberther. "And I learned my lesson, too. I'll never try to bathe in an upper again."

That story about 2,750,000 civil employees sounds fishy. You know Congressmen haven't that many relatives.

It's worth more than it costs to live in America.

The coming mayor fight is going to be very interesting especially to the number of candidates who want the office. It is a very important office. We know from experience.

The kind of time we have does not worry the people who work 15 or 18 hours a day.

BECOME A CAREER GIRL

If I were as rich as Mrs. Croesus and had but one child—a daughter—I would educate her for a career. Unless she showed decided talent for acting, illustrating or writing I would insist that she take a commercial course. There are times when fortunes are unmade as quickly as they are made, when the average husband dies at an earlier age than the average wife and when, in consequence, more widows than widowers are left alone in the world. And statistics show that a large proportion of widows are cheated out of their pittances and their fortunes by slickers and shapers.

Therefore, it behooves every parent to put by a defense fund to protect their daughters against a rainy day when their own inheritance or their husband's fortunes or positions may be wiped out by such misfortunes as the present international crisis is inflicting on financial institutions hitherto believed to be indestructible. And if I had a family of sons I would counsel them to avoid that type of girl who boast of what they would not do.

Question: I am about to begin housekeeping for the first time. How should I teach my maid to address my husband and me and our relatives?—Bride.

Answer: Your maid should answer you "yes, madam" or "Yes, Mrs. Smith" and your husband "No, sir" or "No, Mr. Smith." She may properly address a child under five or six as "John" or "Mary," but should apply "Master John" or "Miss Mary" to older children. Do not allow her to answer "OK", "sure" or plain "yes" or "no," if you wish her to appear as a well-trained domestic.

COMPLETE JOB

From the American Legion magazine we get the story of the tough bartender.

"I'm my own bouncer and I'm hard," declared the tough barkeeper. "You gotta be to stay in this business. Look, this guy comes in last night and I don't like his looks, an' I didn't like the way he ordered his beer; so I lets him have it with the old bungstarter. Down he goes, so I takes him by the collar and the seat of his pants an' throws him out into the street, the big bum—an' then I throws his crutches out after him."

One thing some people never learn and that is what kind and how much food they should eat. Of course some do after they are put on the bum for not being more careful. This also holds good on the things they drink.

Life is the most costly thing that will have to be given in this war.

Gather round for this ten-year-old's essay on cats:

"Cats and people are funny animals. Cats have four paws, but only one ma. People have forefathers, but only one mother.

"Cats carry tails, and a lot of people carry tales, too.

"All cats have fur coats. Some people have fur coats, and the ones who don't, say catty things about the ones who do."

And then the teacher said, "This fur and no further."

We heard about a certain man who, his friends fear, was intoxicated because he sat on his front porch, hoping he would see himself riding on the new tires he imagined he had bought, and on the windshield was a "C" card.

Flossie Fernfrill says that even women who don't know much of geography got a good idea of one of the principal theaters of hostilities when the government started clamping down on girdles.

"They knew then," Flossie explains, "that war had struck in the vicinity of the Equator."

About the only persons who do not have to worry about the milk regulations now are the ones who own a cow. Of ocurse the only thing they have to know then is how to separate the milk from the cow.

Live your life so that at least a few people will be sorry when you die.

The club telephone rang at 2 a. m. and a steward answered it.

"Is my husband there?" an irate woman asked.

"No, ma'am."

"How do you know?" she snapped. "I didn't even tell you his name."

"You didn't have to. The moment the phone rang every married man in the place grabbed his hat and ran."

Say we take it for granted that Mr. Man is going to try to do better this year. If he doesn't it's a foregone conclusion that he will do worse.

What a world! Everybody can tell you how to win the war, but nobody will tell you how to cure a rotten cold.

A PRECAUTIONARY MEASURE

A surgeon had just completed an operation when a fire started in a building across the street.

Being aware that the patient was a rather worldly individual, the doctor summoned a nurse and said, "The patient is coming to. You'd better draw the blinds. I don't want him to think the operation wasn't a success."

Stalin's Absence At Casablanca Puzzle
Post War Attitude Puzzle To Democracies
Didn't Even Send Deputy To Conference

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—Despite official representations that Premier Josef Stalin's and Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's absence from President Roosevelt's and Prime Minister Churchill's recent confab at Casablanca was of no consequence, there is considerable worrying about it in Washington; maybe also in London.

Chiang perhaps would have had serious difficulty in getting from Chungking to the scene of the North Africa discussion. It would not have been a very difficult trip by air for Stalin, however. Moreover, he was rather abrupt in his explanation that he was "too busy" to bother with it, giving the impression that he did not regard it as of any great importance.

Anyway, Joe or Chiang, either or both, could have been represented by deputy. Why weren't they?

Chiang is not really suspected of anything but having his hands overly full with the Japs to give attention to occasional distractions of a not immediately military nature. He is assessed, too, as a genuine democrat—post-war as well as at present.

Comrade Stalin is much more of a puzzle.

He will fight, as he has demonstrated—but what will be his later attitude?

The democracies have hoped that wartime association with them would convert the Soviets to democratic principles. Now they are apprehensive that Joe has served notice on them to the contrary.

They still do not doubt that "unconditional surrender" of the Axis is his motto. However, he apparently insists on "unconditional surrender" upon HIS terms instead of those of the United Nations generally. In short, he evidently is as Communistic as ever. That was what democratic statesmanship was trusting he was in process of being cured of. It seems otherwise.

It doesn't matter now, but it will when peace terms come up for discussion.

It will be a mean argument, too.

The democracies will squelch the Nazis. The Fascists will give up to them. Some semi-totalitarian countries, like Spain, will shut up their traps. Italy will not be any conspicuous nuisance.

China will be in.

Everything will be all "hunky" except if Russia stays on the sideline.

Japan can be kept smothered; not Russia.

It has to be remembered that the Soviet looked pro-German until the Nazis attacked them. At least they were neutral. The Germans set them a-going.

They are sore about it, of course. Nevertheless, it does not prove that their philosophy has modified. The democracies trusted in providence that they would be democratized. It looks otherwise.

Just now it does not matter so

LOOKING AT LIFE

—By Erich Brandeis

In the etiquette column of a newspaper, a woman asked this question:

"My divorced mother remarried. What relation is my mother's second husband to me? Is my mother's second husband legally any relation to me and, if so, what is that relationship called? Also, what is this man's relationship to my husband?"

And this is the clear-cut and simple answer the etiquette lady gave:

"Your mother's second husband being no blood relation of yours, is no legal relation. But socially, he's your stepfather and it's quite proper for you to introduce him as such.

"There really is nothing much else you could call him, since it would be rather clumsy to say 'This is Mr. Brown, my mother's husband'. Logically, it is no more incorrect, socially, for you to have a stepfather while your own father lives than for your mother to have another husband while her first one lives.

"As for your mother's husband's relationship to your husband, as far as we can see, he's just your husband's mother-in-law's husband. Or perhaps you might call him his stepfather-in-law."

Can't you imagine how relieved the woman who wrote the letter must have felt when she read the answer?

So simple, so clear, such concise English, such social propriety!

How easy the whole thing had become:

"Meet my husband's mother-in-law's husband, who's also my stepfather-in-law."

"Pleased to meet vouse, Mr. Brown. I'm glad to make your acquaintance" is the proper social answer to that.

By the way, Mrs. Etiquette Lady should you hold your saucer in your left or your right hand when drinking coffee out of it?

When you invite people to dinner, is it proper to make a slight cover charge?

If you hit a lady in the eye should you first remove your glove?

After using a toothpick, should you put it in your pocket or throw it under the table?

I am going to a formal affair and have to return my dress suit by midnight. Will you give me a proper but gracious excuse to give my host for leaving so early?

I'm just crazy about etiquette—life would be just too, too monotonous without it.

The World and the Mud Puddles

STOP STRIKES OR ELSE

The difference between having a tank and where it's needed—and not having a tank—is one hundred fifty men!

Let Union agents and bosses responsible for strikes in war plants—strikes that cost even an hour's cessation of work—think about that.

Let them stop for a moment in their zeal to maintain themselves in pre-war style, and open their eyes to the growing impatience among their own members with their apparent oblivion to the war and to war's necessities. Let them remember their trust is a large one.

"Workers are not making luxury ..."

They're making the tools of war ... to determine whether their own young sons in North Africa, New Guinea and the Solomons will return from the war—or whether they must meet a snarling enemy, inadequately armed, and die in a foreign desert, jungle or sea.

Strikes like those which recently stopped the wheels in the River Rouge war plant, the Chrysler tank assembly line and the Alameda shipyard, are no ordinary strikes—and millions of Americans dedicated to winning the war as quickly as possible, cannot countenance them as such. With federal machinery set up to settle labor disputes, the average man doing war work himself, can see no plausible excuse for work stoppages in war plants.

Proof of his stand in his general disinclination to be called out—as in the case of the Alameda shipyard trouble, where a business agent forbade machinists to return to the job until each had paid a $25 fine for working on Saturday and Sunday after Christmas at regular pay. A machinist spokesman declared, "We see no reason to be fined for doing what we know to be our patriotic duty."

The tank assembly line in Detroit stopped and one hundred thousand manhours were lost—not over wages but because a Union agent objected to a plan for a maintenance crew in each of the many units of the vast plant, instead of "roving" repair crews.

It is apparent that workers generally want to keep the wheels turning. One obvious reason is because a majority have sons and brothers in the armed forces. Another is common sense. They are aware their cause suffers when their own leaders ignore rebukes by the War Labor Board, disdain presidential orders and insult Army and Navy heads for their pleas for continuous and unremitting production of war materials.

They are beginning to speak out in meeting—letting their Union leaders know their first interest lies in doing their gigantic job with integrity—in saving the lives of young Americans—not forfeiting them unnecessarily for lack of sacrificial effort on the home front.

One Man's Opinion

The "Little Steel" wage freezing formula is bending and may be expected to break because (1) It never was a formula and (2) There is no ersatz for gimme.

Economists wander around their ivory towers talking learnedly about "a living wage" when if they came downstairs and mulled around with the rest of us they'd soon find out we don't want any living wage—we want the most dough we can lay our hands on.

We want a big house, fancy clothes, two kinds of meat on the table and a car with no pleats in the fenders and if we can get them we're going to get them.

If there's dough to be had we want it and if the economists know it's bad for us then they'd better write it into law and not into textbooks for sophomores of Backward U. to discuss in class.

With the whole experience of the last war behind us and months to prepare for this one, wages and prices have been temporized with until even a one-shot trouble ointment gets billed as a "formula." No wonder it's wearing thin.

Thought for the day: Breathes there a man with soul so dead who never to himself hath said "I want a raise."

Bible Thought For Today

Every good gift and every perfect gift is from above, and cometh down from the Father of lights, with whom is no variableness, neither shadow of turning.—James 1: 17.

If you could see into the future, you could plan to wreck the stock market, but Alas! you'd see your own death and lose interest in money.

We mustn't let China lick the Japs. You see, unless white men do the winning, they can't regain lost "face" in the Orient.

State's Potato Goal 26 Per Cent Increase In Acreage Over 1942

By WILLIAM BROCKMAN
(U. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

HARRISBURG, Feb. 5.—A 26 per cent. increase in potato acreage for 1943 has been fixed as the goal for Pennsylvania farmers by the state war board of the U. S. department of agriculture.

The new potato crop will be planted on 211,000 acres under the proposed accelerated war-time program, as compared with 167,000 acres last year. The 1942 crop yielded 17,587,000 bushels.

The board's campaign was drafted on the heels of a prediction by the Pennsylvania agricultural information committee that potato acreage this season will be reduced 25 per cent "unless the farm labor and machinery outlook brightens in the near future."

In an effort to encourage potato production, the federal government's farm program offers farmers the payment of 50 cents per bushel "on the normal yield of the acreage planted in potatoes in excess of the goal," the board stated. Prices will be supported at 90 per cent. of the parity previously announced.

The board said that while there will be a shortage of experienced farm labor, the war manpower commission has given assurance of "some type" of farm workers and farmers expect to recruit harvesting aid from "school pupils and town folks."

Onion Supply Tripled

As the result of last year's banner production, the stock of onions in Pennsylvania is now triple that of January 1942, the department of agriculture reveals.

According to the latest survey more than 3,000 sacks of 100 pounds each were available, compared with 1,000 sacks a year earlier.

Combat Meat Shortage

Indicating that Pennsylvania farmers are doing their utmost to offset a serious meat shortage, the federal-state crop reporting service announced that the number of cattle on feed for market in the commonwealth increased approximately 15 per cent. from Jan. 1, 1942.

Marked changes in the weights of cattle when purchased for feeding and the proportion of cattle to be marketed during the first four months of 1943 were also noted. A shift from animals weighing 1,000 pounds and over to those weighing 500 to 750 pounds took place, while it was indicated that most of the cattle would be marketed later than last year.

Japanese Beetle Again

With the warm season fast approaching, the state bureau of plant industry is once more concerning itself with the problem of Japanese Beetle eradication.

The bureau has been notified that the general infestation area of the Beetle is now extended to include nine additional townships in Cumberland and York counties, while Wesleyville, Erie county, has been added to the regulated area.

The difference between a general infestation area and a regulated area, it was explained, is that there are restrictions on the shipment of fruits and vegetables outside the limits of the first, whereas this produce is permitted to leave the other. Restrictions, however, are placed on all shipments of nursery and similar stocks in a regulated area.

Mullentowners Plan Valentine Party

The Mullentown School Association will hold a valentine party in Modern Woodman hall, Washington street, Wednesday evening, February 24.

On account of the inability to secure a hall the affair had to be delayed until the latter date, but despite this, much interest is being centered in the affair.

President Hugh Hannon has selected Bert Evans as general chairman of the affair and Ida Suber co-chairman. With these two in charge a most successful event is being looked forward to. The valentine party last year was a big success and was largely attended.

On account of the gas rationing the Mullentowners have not held any events since the last reunion at Cascade Park.

President Hannon will announce his committees at a later date.

INTRODUCES BILL TO CONTROL LABOR UNIONS

LANSING, Mich., Feb. 5.—A bill which would put the state in virtual control of all labor unions and make it a felony to participate in wildcat strikes was introduced in the house on Thursday by state rep. Charles Feenstra, Grand Rapids Republican.

The measure also would compel labor unions to organize as corporations, establish their financial responsibility, and regulate the collection of dues.

In asking that participation in wildcat strikes be made a criminal offense, Feenstra defined them as "any unauthorized strike unsanctioned by union officials."

A MESSAGE FROM THOSE WHO MAKE AND WE WHO SELL AMERICA'S MOST FAMOUS FOOTWEAR

The President of the United States has asked that the name, "Red Cross," be discontinued in connection with any commercial product.

Red Cross Shoes, as you know, have borne this proud name for over 50 years. In New Castle, we have sold them as Red Cross Shoes for over 12 years.

However, Silverman's are proud to join with the makers of this famous footwear in acceding, during this critical war period, to the wishes of our President.

This Spring, therefore, Red Cross Shoes will be known as Gold Cross Shoes. You will find them advertised as Gold Cross Shoes. You'll find them, as rapidly as possible, so labeled and marked in our store.

Gold Cross Shoes will be . . . and are being . . . made by the same people who made Red Cross Shoes. They will be made over the same "Limit" Lasts in the same great factories. Actually, Gold Cross Shoes are Red Cross Shoes.

Nearly 400 Names On Honor Roll At Y.M.C.A.

On the north wall of the Y. M. C. A. lobby there is an honor roll hung. The board itself is an artistic bit of work and in the middle a silken American flag. Grouped around the flag are the names of 383 men who are now in the armed service of the United States, and all of them have been or are, members of the New Castle Young Men's Christian Association.

This represents only part of the list of men who have gone out of the local association. There are many more names to be added and within a short time scores more will be added.

Not so long ago most of these honor roll men were kids in the "Y" gymnasium, playing basketball, medicine ball, jumping the horses and bucks, taking part in the annual circus and attending such organized activities as the Hi-Y.

Today they are scattered over the globe. Some of them are still in the United States, some are in the Solomons, some in Africa, and others scattered over the islands of the sea.

Training such as young men received in the Y. M. C. A., both physical, moral and spiritual has aided in building them into real fighting men. Instead of tossing baskets for their basketball team now they are tossing bombs or shells at the Axis. The character building training of the Y. M. C. A. is now showing itself in clear eyed, hard hitting soldiers, sailors and marines.

Christian Endeavor State President At Meeting Here

Lawrence County Group Observes Christian Endeavor Week At Program

Dr. J. Wilson Byers of Aliquippa, state president of Christian Endeavor, was the principal speaker Thursday evening when members of the Lawrence County Christian Endeavor Union gathered in Central Presbyterian church for a program in observance of Christian Endeavor Week.

Miss Ruth Garrity had charge of the program and led devotions with scripture being read by Edwin Gardner and Mrs. Walter Rogers. Other features were a vocal solo by Jimmy Frost, a violin solo by Clara Scriven and a candle-lighting service when a friendship circle was formed around the church with candles. The program closed with the Christian Endeavor benediction.

During a social period in the church basement, games were played with the social superintendent, Irene Liversage, in charge. Lunch was served by Miss Liversage, Miss Garrity and Mary Elizabeth Norris.

The president, Thelma Bumbaugh, had charge of the business session and appointed the following two committees: spring convention, Lois O'Neil, Grace Kelly, Irene Liversage, Gerry Frey; nominating committee for officers for coming year, Mary Elizabeth Norris, Aleta Montgomery, Edwin Gardner and Walter Rogers.

Inside Washington

much, but it will in the post-war world.

It has been trusted in Washington and London that Premier Stalin would forget his pre-war program in the midst of the actual muss—that he will "stay up" as a post-war democrat.

Today it does not look like it.

He is in the war but not the post-war settlement.

A three-cornered bargain is what is promised:

The democracies, the licked totalitarians and the Communists!

It remains to be seen how well the triumphant democracies and the Communists will get on together.

Line them up:

The United States, Britain, probably France, most likely Italy, Spain, the European miscellany, licked Europe, the western hemisphere and China versus Russia and the Japs!

How peaceful that is going to be is problematic.

Herr Hitler will be licked, sure.

But how about Joe Stalin and his outfit?

They are O. K. now, to be sure, but when it comes to a discussion of peace terms?

They were a bit disagreeable as to that Casablanca conference.

Roosevelt astounded the Chinese by saying more stuff is flown to them than went over the Burma Road. Maybe it lands at Shangri-La.

Zionist Groups To Hear Speaker

Dr. Max Gruenewald To Address Lawrence County Zionist Tuesday Night

DR. MAX GRUENEWALD

Dr. Max Gruenewald, lecturer and writer of New York City, will address members of the Lawrence County Zionist Groups, Wednesday evening, February 10, at 8:30 o'clock in the Cosmo club, North Mercer street.

Dr. Gruenewald will speak about the Hebrew University and its services being rendered to the Allied Armies of the Near East; telling the courses given in tropical and subtropical diseases, wartime surgery and military medicine to medical officers stationed in Palestine. The typhus vaccine worked out by the University scientists, has proven to be of inestimable value in stemming typhus epidemics among the armed forces in the Near East.

Dr. Gruenewald, is a graduate of the University of Breslau, and was one of the leading figures of German Jewry prior to the Hitler regime. He emigrated to Palestine in 1938, and enrolled in the Hebrew University, where he became well acquainted with the members of the University and their work.

Hearing Is Set On Abandonment Of Rail Service

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Feb. 5.—The public utility commission today fixed a hearing at Butler on February 15 on a Dauphin county court injunction restraining the Bessemer and Lake Erie railroad company from abandoning service between North Bessemer and Greenville.

In an order returned by the court yesterday at Harrisburg, the company was ordered to continue operation of the service. The commission permitted the company to eliminate passenger trains on the branch line on January 15 but subsequent petitions from residents prompted the P. U. C. to direct the railroad to resume service.

Daily Dozen

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

Man is a perverse creature.

Take away gasoline and highway deaths are reduced.

So what does man do?

He contrives to kill himself some other way.

Traffic deaths were reduced by 12,000 in 1942.

But there was an increase in other accidental deaths.

At home, in public vehicles and in occupation.

More than 2,600 were killed in catastrophes in 1942.

A catastrophe is a great and sudden calamity.

The night club fire in Boston, the largest, killed 488.

The United States has not been bombed as yet.

More Americans die in accidents than in Britain by air raids.

SOMEWHERE IN NEW GUINEA, Feb. 5.—(Via Courier)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur's Southwest Pacific air force was in action again today in a series of broad sweeps against Japanese bases from Lae on the north coast of New Guinea to Rabaul, New Britain.

Starting out before dawn, Boeing Flying Fortresses smashed at the Lakunai and Vunakanau airdromes, seeking out grounded enemy aircraft as targets.

While the results were obscured, all bombs larided in the dispersal areas, probably destroying many Japanese aircraft.

This morning's attacks marked the end of a month of nightly operations against the Japs, with the exception of a few days missed because of weather conditions. These raids have been perhaps the most effectire part of Gen. MacArthur's war of attrition against the enemy.

Lae was subjected to two major coordinated attacks today by B-25 Mitchell medium bombers and A-20 Havoc attack planes. The latter blasted the enemy from a height of less than 50 feet despite blistering ack-ack barrages.

Capt. Robert "Joe" Faurot of Cape Girardea, Miss., headed the formation of plans which gave constant pursuit coverage to the attacking forces.

Direct hits reportedly were made on every airplane on the Lae runways and at least three perfect bomb trains were dropped through the revetment areas.

Fires were started around the airdrome by medium bombers. Before that, Petri's Havocs made a strafing run over the target area which literally clipped the leaves from trees around the airdrome.

Pilots who took part in the mission included Willmor Pavlich of Port Jervis, N. Y.

War Labor Board Decision Given In Limestone Co. Case

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—The War Labor Board today denied maintenance of membership and check-off provisions to the united construction workers division 50 of the United Mine Workers because of a strike called in three plants of the Pittsburgh Limestone Corp., September 28.

Eight hundred employees were involved in the three-day strike, which was sanctioned by the union. The strike was continued until October 2, when the dispute was certified by the WLB.

The board ruled, however, that it would receive a petition for reconsideration after three months.

The wage issue involved a general increase of 5 1-2 cents per hour, retroactive to February 15, in conformance with the order for "Big Steel". This was agreed to by the board on the recommendation of the panel.

Form New Nurse's Aid Classes Here

Women Interested In Joining New Classes Urged To Submit Examination Record

Mrs. Harry Barkby, Red Cross Nurse's Aide chairman for Lawrence county, is urgently requesting that all those persons who have indicated an interest in the nurse's aide training program get their physical examinations turned into the chapter house as quickly as possible. The nurse's aide committee is now interviewing persons for the two classes which are being organized for the Jameson and New Castle hospitals. Appointments for interviews will be sent to those interested upon receipt of their physical examinations.

Mrs. Barkby advises that the age limitation of 50 has been removed and that persons over this age who are physically fit may take the training. The other requirements are graduation from high school or its equivalent and passing of a satisfactory physical examination. The candidates must then take an 80-hour training course, consisting of 34 hours of lectures and demonstration on "Care of the Sick in the Hospital," 45 hours of supervised practice in the hospital and a one-hour examination. The candidate upon completion of her 34 hours may wear the uniform, but is not given her nurse's aide cap, insignia, and pin until the entire 80 hours is completed. The candidate must agree to serve 150 hours in the hospital immediately upon completion of her training, and to serve 150 hours each year.

The need for nurse's aides is great, Mrs. Barby stated, and Lawrence county has a quota of 200 to be trained within the year. With the armed forces asking the Red Cross to recruit 36,000 registered nurses for service, the gap at home must be filled as well as possible by training sufficient nurses aides to assist those nurses who will be left in the hospitals. Services rendered by the nurse's aides must be given without remuneration, and under the direct supervision of a trained nurse at all times.

Farmers Need More Men Says Babson

By ROGER W. BABSON
(Copyright, 1943, Publishers Financial Bureau, Inc.)

BABSON PARK, Fla., Feb. 5.—Through the courtesy of my neighbor, W. Paul Starkey, one of America's most successful farmers, I have just returned from an inspection trip of large truck farms. These are the thousand acre tracts which raise the peas, beans, cauliflower, tomatoes, cucumbers and other fresh vegetables which you are eating.

BABSON

For Once Farmers Are Right

These farmers want no money from the government. All they ask is the right to buy plows, tractors and trucks and a supply of workers. This last is the most needed of all. Let me give a few illustrations. Readers, moreover, know that I do not represent the Farm Bloc—but am usually very critical of their demands. The time has arrived, however, when farm products have become munitions of war.

Farmers from everywhere are writing that they are not able to secure trucks and necessary tools. The potato farmers are very outspoken in their attiude regarding the Washington bureaucrats. It seems that the government has been making promises to them that labor would be supplied. However, a good many potato growers had their potatoes frozen in the ground. These are now practically telling the government representatives that they are going to reduce their acreage, or stop production altogether, unless they have more assurance that labor will be given them.

Food Panic Ahead?

Farm organizations rightfully demand that the working week be increased to fifty-four, so that one-third of the people in manufacturing industries could be returned to the farms. They take the stand that there is no reason for the farmers to be short of labor while men in manufacturing industries are working such short hours. It is certain that unless the government immediately takes a more liberal attitude relative to the needs of farmers for labor, gasoline, tires and other equipment needs, there will be a decreased production of farm products.

Even now there are indications of a drastic shortage of feed. The government says that farmers should produce more hogs, cattle and chickens and yet it forgets the importance of sufficient feed for live stock. There are indications that farm wages may go as high as 60 to 70 cents per hour. This could, of course, mean vastly increased prices on all food products including canned foods and frozen foods. The United States is truly facing a food panic unless Washington wakes up.

Working Hours Too Short

I understand there is some justice in paying war-workers who remain at home their present high wages, while soldiers get only $50 and keep a month. This is because when a soldier goes to war, the family income is considerably reduced. Hence, in order for the family to keep up a decent standard of living, those who do not go to war should receive higher wages. Granting that the above is fair, there is, however, no logical reason why those at home should not work as long hours as those who are drafted.

The soldier boys work from sunrise to sunset. They, moreover, work hard—far harder than any home war workers are working. Certainly, the working-hours for all of us should be the same. If so, this would enable war plants to release the necessary help which the farmers need. Longer hours for factory workers are the answer to the farmers' problems; while longer hours for all of us would do much to shorten the war. Otherwise, there may arise a demand that soldiers, factory and farm workers all be paid the same wages.

Truth About Inflation

In this connection, let me say a final word on inflation:—Paying taxes does not stop inflation; it merely delays it. Buying war bonds does not prevent inflation; it merely postpones it. The money which the government receives from taxes and bonds is not destroyed. It is immediately paid out again to wage workers and their employers. This money is now increasing and piling up in banks and pocketbooks to the tune of about two billion dollars per week.

Only one thing will prevent inflation and a post-war crash. This is to put all of us in uniform on army pay and on army hours. Factory and farm workers would get $50 per month and "keep"; while executives and employees would get the present officers pay. Except as needed to take care of obligations, all private incomes over a small figure would probably need to be frozen for the duration. The wealthy, however, would be glad to agree to this if everyone is treated alike and made to work the same number of hours.

War Would Quickly Be Ended

The simply truth is that England, Canada and the United States are trying to win this war and at the same time play politics. This means "soak the well-to-do (there are no more rich) and pamper union labor". This is just because labor controls more votes. The war Germany could be settled in a few months if the political leaders of these three countries had the guts to put us all in uniform and make all of us at home work like the soldiers in the army. I hope President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill discussed this when in Africa.

But to return to the farmers and their need of more labor, trucks and other supplies—there is another reason why we should be sympathetic with them now. This is because after the war the farmers are liable to get an awful licking. Hence, both for the farmers' good and for the nation's, let us be helpful to them now as to all reasonable requests.

HEART TROUBLE.

One of the heart conditions which cause trouble is hardening of the arteries.

The arteries which nourish the heart get hard and rough on the inside. When the blood flows over a rough place a little clot forms and sticks to it. The clot gets larger something like a snow ball does and finally stops the vessel.

Then that part of the heart muscle which is supplied by the stopped up artery dies.

If the artery is a large one the person usually dies. This form of heart trouble usually comes on rather slowly. If the artery is small the damaged part may heal and the heart recover.

This usually takes a long time and the patient needs to be at rest in bed.

The symptoms of this trouble are usually pain and discomfort in the chest or stomach. The patient complains of gas on the stomach. Belching seems to relieve it some.

When symptoms like these appear, the physician can usually tell whether the condition is serious or not. Prompt treatment will often ward off further trouble.

NEW HEBRIDES NATIVES JOIN TOURIST RACKET

(International News Service)

CAMP EDWARDS, Mass., Feb. 5.—Natives of the New Hebrides Islands in the south Pacific have turned into a bunch of city slickers, Pvt. Victor Reed, 23, revealed today.

"When we first arrived there, you could get your laundry done for three cigarettes," he said on his return to Camp Edwards to recuperate from coral fever. "Then some of the boys started paying 25 cents for their laundry.

"And prices started to go up. . . when we got there, they charged 25 cents for a quart of wine. Now the charge a dollar."

If workers in war plants are heroes, what of those who work as hard to pay taxes to pay for war work?

Senator Davis Presents Ideas On Huge Army

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 5.—United States Senator James J. Davis suggested Thursday that the United States concentrate on producing the weapons of war rather than building up a "tremendously large army", part of which might have to remain idle for lack of necessary supplies.

America should be an arsenal and granary, he said, explaining:

"Our pleas from China and Russia have not been for men. They have been for guns, planes, tanks, food and all other materials which are necessary to carry on a modern war.

"I believe that in view of the large number of our men already under arms, we should now see to it that our production and agricultural programs are supplied with manpower sufficient to insure their continued and complete success."

Must Wipe Out Subs

He pictured the submarine menace as serious, and asserted its solution will require a tremendous increase in the production of escort vessels. Wiping out the submarine menace should have the first call on manpower, with production of war weapons and food next in that order, he declared.

Taking the general question of manpower allocation into consideration, the Pennsylvania senator continued:

"First we must have a directed use of all manpower, to the end that every employable person is fully occupied in an essential activity and that none remains idle or works intermittently.

"Secondly, the 48-hour work week should be made the recognized work week for the duration of the crisis."

Davis added that the question of overtime for the extra eight hours "would be up to the War Labor Board to determine."

OCD NOTES

Activities Of OCD Workers Are Outlined Here

Ninth precinct, Second ward air raid wardens, Thursday night held a business and later a social meeting in the residence of George Winters, North Mercer street.

Approximately 50 auxiliary policemen greatly enjoyed the address of Sergt. Ed. Jones, Pennsylvania Motor police, Thursday night in the city building. He spoke on highway control and also general policing.

It was reported today city auxiliary firemen are having an OCD "pumper" mounted on a used chassis.

Some of the persons who requested a Wednesday morning class in OCD work at the city building have not themselves taken advantage of the class which starts on Wednesday at 10 a. m., it was reported today.

Messengers who have been sworn in but who did not obtain their arm bands may visit city OCD headquarters and secure them upon presentation of an identification card.

City OCD headquarters reports an apathetic attitude on the part of many who have been certified for some branch of work yet have not visited headquarters for their identification card. A card is a necessity in OCD work.

Number 5 auxiliary firemen met Thursday night in the Scioto street fire house. A good turnout featured. Following instruction work, a business session was held, and which in turn, was followed by a social meeting.

Following the meeting of the Second precinct of the Fourth ward Thursday, the members inspected the OCD station "wagon" which is equipped for operation during a black-out.

AROUND CITY HALL

Three hundred and five persons paid a tax of one dollar for violating the parking meters in January, according to a police report submitted by Mayor Charles B. Mayne to council Thursday. In all, 484 arrests were made and the January police receipts amounted to $1,633.70. Seven autoists were fined for speeding but booze did not play a big role in activities. In fact, the ratio was slightly more than one drunk for every thousand persons here. The report shows 43 were arrested for drunkenness, 15 had an additional charge of disorderly conduct tacked against them and one motorist was jailed for "tipsy" driving. Three hundred and sixty-four of the 484 paid a fine and cost, 33 forfeited cash bonds, 17 were jailed, 57 discharged, five placed in aldermanic custody, one prisoner turned over to military police and seven cases are yet pending.

Kindergarten And Three R's

(Contributed)

In the springtime, the farmer does not say, "I will have a fine early crop this year. I'll plant sooner than the prescribed time". Instead, he seeks to improve his field by fertilizing his land, ploughing carefully and studying the type of seed in relation to the kind of soil.

So it is with kindergarten. There, under every favorable influence, the ground is broken, fertilizing experience given, and the soil is prepared for the seed which will soon be planted there in the shape of primary school lessons.

The child's preparation for reading comes in an interesting and alive way. The kindergarten child will not, in the primary grades read "I-see-the-bluebird," in a dull, uncomprehending way. For he has seen a bluebird, he has played being a bluebird, he has picked out children dressed in blue, he has drawn a crude picture with a blue crayon. He has been busy having the experiences about which a reading book will tell. He has heard stories and repeated them. He has learned some of the best verses the language affords. In other words, he is at home with the subject matter of reading and his mind more readily masters the symbols of reading.

His aptitude for words has been greatly stimulated. A New England superintendent of schools, reporting to his people concerning the necessity of establishing kindergartens in their educational systems said, "I have called to your attention the need of kindergartens in order that children entering the primary grades may make successful progress.

"The lack of fundamental English words has made it necessary for our first grade teachers in most cases to spend half of the year in forming a vocabulary and in teaching children to express themselves orally before it has been possible to begin the actual teaching of reading and writing."

The kindergarten child has much practice with chalk, crayon and paint brush. This means training of the muscles of the hand. He also has some practice in drawing natural objects, which means the ability to put down with his hand what his eyes see. Then in the primary grades, when he is ready to learn to write, but one more feature is involved, the reproduction of an unfamiliar symbol.

While the kindergarten child does not have lessons in numbers, he uses number in a practical, concrete way. He is told to choose six children at play times, to count the number of crayons his table will need, and in various interesting ways he learns the meaning of numbers. This knowledge helps him when the primary teacher presents the first ideas of the manipulation of numbers.

So, far each of the three R's which he will later be studying, the kindergarten child has invaluable preparation.

There will be an open public meeting on kindergarten values and the need for re-establishing them in the public school system of New Castle, Monday, Feb. 8 at 7:45 p. m., in the auditorium of the YWCA building on Washington street. Dr. Emma Heard of Slippery Rock State Teachers college will speak on "The Importance of Kindergarten" and a moving picture "A Day In the Kindergarten" will be shown. Following this there will be an open discussion.

WHAT, NO TEAR GAS?

(International News Service)

FORT COLLINS, Colo.—In all the nation, only the farmers of Colorado were dismayed by the disclosure that the war had created a serious shortage of tear gas. Tear gas (chloropicrin) is one of the chemicals best adapted for treatment of the soil in Colorado truck garden hotbeds, according to W. J. Henderson, of the Colorado State college extension service, who advised farmers to substitute formaldehyde.

To Divorce Wife Who Wounded Him

Maryland Socialite Horseman Will File Suit, Wife Held On Murder Charge

(International News Service)

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 5.—Ulmo S. Randle, Maryland socialite horseman, wounded in a double shooting which ended in death for a youthful friend, said on Thursday he would file suit for divorce from his pretty 31-year-old wife, now held without bail on murder charges in the affair.

Randle's announcement was made by way of comment on a "personal" notice appearing over his signature in a Washington newspaper in which he served notice he would no longer be responsible for debts contracted by other than himself.

It came as last rites were held for Allen Willey, 17, the young neighbor of the Randles whom the former Helen Aileen Boswell—the Bay Ridge, Md., mah's third wife—is accused of killing with a rifle bullet before allegedly wounding her 34-year-old husband in the leg.

Lana Turner Is Given Annulment

(International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 5.—Leaving a sick bed where she has been confined by a severe cold Lana Turner went to court today and won an annulment of her second marriage, to Stephen Crane, young broker and tobacco heir. Her first husband was Band Leader Artie Shaw.

The famous movie star gave brief testimony before Superior Judge Roy V. Rhodes, who granted the annulment.

She said she had not known Crane was married before, when she and the broker eloped to Las Vegas, Nev., last July 17.

"Did you later find out that he had been married and that the divorce obtained by his first wife had not become final?" asked her attorney.

"Yes, I did," she replied.

The actress was asked if a child was expected as a result of her marriage to Crane, and if she desired its custody. She answered "yes" to both questions.

Goebbels Appeals To Britain About Russian Victory

Stalingrad Defeat Prompts New Propaganda Against 'Spread Of Bolshevism'

(International News Service)

LONDON, Feb. 5.—The German defeat at Stalingrad has prompted Propaganda Minister Joseph Goebbels to raise a new cry against the possible spread of bolshevism even to the extent of appealing to Britain on the possible consequences of a Russian victory, it was revealed Thursday in Nazi radio broadcasts.

An article written in the weekly magazine Das Reich by the propaganda minister was quoted in which Goebbels said:

"The danger of bolshevism, which was believed to have been definitely checked by German armed forces, lifts its head once more, not only so far as we are concerned but also so far as our friends even our open and hidden enemies are concerned.

"Apart from us there is no longer anyone who could defend Europe. Should ever the tragic possibility arise that the German armed forces could not cope with this storm from the east our continent would lie at the feet of bolshevism.

"Perhaps even in London there are a few clear-thinking men who could imagine what that could mean for Britain."

Ruml Tax Plan Urged By Hanes

Former Undersecretary Of Treasury Favors Congressional Adoption Of Plan

By ROBERT HUMPHREYS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—John W. Hanes, former undersecretary of treasury in the Roosevelt administration, today urged congressional adoption of the Ruml tax plan as an anti-inflationary step, contending that it would "assure a maximum continuity" of revenue flow into the treasury "which will go farther toward stopping inflation than any other single proposal."

At the same time, he assailed arguments by treasury officials that the plan is liable to set off a dangerous inflationary spiral, and termed the claim that it will favor upper income groups as "demagogic".

Hanes, who served with the treasury during President Roosevelt's second administration, made his assertions in an interview granted just after he had listened to Beardsley Ruml, chairman of the New York Federal Reserve Board outline his pay-as-you go plan to the house ways and means committee.

Asked what he thought of the treasury's claim that the plan would contribute to inflation by releasing large sums of money for spending purposes which people had saved to meet taxes, Hanes said:

"Perhaps I don't know the meaning of the word 'inflation', but how anyone in their wildest imagination could be brought to the point of view that the Ruml plan is inflationary, when coupled with vigorous withholding taxes and current collections, is something I cannot comprehend."

Search For Radium Lost In Shipyard

(International News Service)

PHILAEDLPHIA, Feb. 5.—Officials at Cramp's shipyard were still searching today for $10,000 worth of radium lost at the yard last Friday.

Frank Hartman, of the Canadian Radium and Uranium Corporation, who is directing the hunt with a sensitive device that detects the element's rays, said serious burns or an explosion will result if the tube is not handled properly.

The search is also being conducted in a rowboat, in the belief that the radium may have fallen into snow and been washed into the river.

State Personal Tax Returns Must Be Filed Next Week

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Feb. 5.—Taxpayers were reminded today by Secretary of Revenue David W. Harris that four-mill personal property tax returns must be filed by midnight February 15.

Failure to pay the tax will result in penalties and interest being imposed upon delinquents, he asserted.

"There appears to be some misapprehension regarding the liability of taxpayers in the event that the personal property tax law is not re-enacted by the legislature now in session," he said.

"Such an event would not relieve the taxpayer of the obligation to pay the tax due and returnable on February 15 because the act provides that it remains in force until the taxes for the present returnable period and all other taxes owed for previous years as well as penalty and interest are paid," Harris stated.

Belonging originally to the Belgian Baron Empain, Lac Masson, Quebec, Canada, known for the Domaine d'Esterel, summer resort in the Laurentians, is now an air force training center.

Davies Suggests Hitler May Be Dead

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—The possibility that Adolf Hitler may be dead and that a weakening German military machine might resort to poison gas and bacteriological warfare, was advanced today by Joseph E. Davies, former U. S. Ambassador to Russia.

Speaking on a nation-wide broadcast Davies interpreted the absence of a Hitler address on the recent 10th anniversary of the Nazi party's rise to power and the present funeral pall over the Reich as evidence that Hitler has died.

"These days of mourning and grief in Germany, supposedly because of the Stalingrad defeat, and the fact that Hitler did not make his 10th anniversary speech last week, suggests the possibility that Hitler is dead," Davies declared.

A speaker on the "March of Time" program Davies warned, however, that even if the Nazi leader has passed on, his ideology still lives in the hearts and minds of the German people.

The Japanese Zero fighting plane, plywood and fabric constructed, is fast, maneuverable and light but highly vulnerable since it lacks armor.

U. S. MINERAL SUPPLY

(International News Service)

POCATELLO, Io.—Stating that the potential mineral value of Idaho, the Gem state, had "scarcely been scratched," state mine inspector, Arthur Campbell declared a recent survey made of critical ore deposits in Idaho revealed the state would contribute greatly in making the United States independent of foreign mineral supplies, discontinued because of the war.

Copper, tungsten, mercury, antimony, cadium, vanadium, and other metals vital to modern war production are being mined in Idaho in increasing quantities, Campbell said.

U. S. Bombers Make Heavy Air Attack On Solomons Base

Buin Is Target Of Night Attack

Other Enemy Bases In New Guinea Area Are Blasted By Bombers

RABAUL IS HIT FOR SIXTH TIME

(International News Service)

UNITED NATIONS HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, Feb. 5.—Rushing to the aid of American naval and air forces battling the Japanese in the Guadalcanal area of the Solomons, bombers under command of Gen. Douglas MacArthur rained destruction on the enemy base at Buin, in the northern Solomons, in a three hour night attack, an allied communique reported today.

The raid was but one in a series of devastating attacks on Japanese naval and air bases in the New Guinea area.

Rabaul Hit Again

Heavy bombers struck at Rabaul, on New Britain island, for the sixth consecutive night. The target was the Lakumai airdrome. Results of the attack were not observed. Other squadrons bombed the airfields at Gasmata and Cape Gloucester on New Britain.

Medium bombers made the foray to Buin. Successive waves of allied aircraft swept over the airfield. Three large fires were started in fuel and ammunition dumps, and four smaller blazes in the center of the field were believed to have been burning planes.

Bases Blasted

Japanese bases also were blasted at Matkusi island in the Tenimber group southwest of New Guinea, at Arawe, off the south coast of New Britain island, and in two areas of New Guinea.

Several direct hits were scored on a cargo ship off Arawe. The vessel listed heavily and was grounded on a reef.

Attack planes bombed the Mubo-Wau area, 10 miles south of Lae, where Australian jungle fighters have dug in for an eventual attack on Lae.

Two attacks were made on the airdrome at Lae. Large fires were started and a number of planes were believed to have been destroyed.

Condemns U. S. Failure To Bomb Hirohito's Palace

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 5.—The State department's policy of refusing to permit bombing of the 351-acre palace of Emperor Hirohito was condemned today by James R. Young, former Tokio bureau manager for International News Service.

"So long as the Japanese have the emperor they can't be beaten for they believe absolutely in the divinity and power of the emperor," Young told 700 persons attending the annual dinner of the constructors' Association of Western Pennsylvania.

He predicted a new major offensive over Tokio in 1943, and suggested as targets: The main railroad lines, including long tunnels, which are Japan's chief means of transportation; the eight principal cities which, he said, should be pulverized into the "world's widest, finest seven-alarm fire;" and the Shanghai Power House, which serves 8,000,000 persons.

Warns Against Premature Talk Of World Peace

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 5.—Warning against premature talk of world peace, Governor Edward Martin today urged full support of President Roosevelt as commander in chief of the armed forces.

"There will be plenty of time to talk about peace when victory is attained," Martin told an overflow meeting of the Golden Slipper Square club in Philadelphia.

"We are fighting for our very survival against a ruthless enemy," he declared. "We must get the offensive spirit . . . we must learn to hate our enemies."

Martin asked complete war cooperation on the home front and strict obedience to federal restrictions for the conservation of war scarce commodities.

Seek To Learn If U. S. Will Keep Foreign Air Bases

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—Adolf A. Berle, Jr., a high State department official credited with negotiating the agreements giving the United States right to build military air bases on foreign soil, will be summoned soon before the House Foreign Affairs committee to tell whether this country will keep title to the lands after the war.

Berle, it was disclosed today, will be asked bluntly whether the United States is to lose its investments in the airfields by turning them over lock, stock and barrel to foreign nations or retain them to build up a system of worldwide airways to maintain "freedom of the air, everywhere".

SPRING CLEANING

It isn't time for spring cleaning yet, but Deputy Sheriff Thomas O'Brien believes in beating the gun. The city side of the jail is being cleaned and painted and although the work is not completed yet, the cell block already looks much better.

Deputy O'Brien is allergic to dirt and disorder and insists that the jail be in good shape at all times. Prisoners on the city side are doing the work and are doing a good job of it.

Questions And Answers On Food Rationing Plan

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5—The OPA today released the following series of questions and answers concerning the forthcoming rationing of processed foods:

Q. My family consists of my husband, our two children and myself. What is my family's allowance of canned foods when rationing begins?

A. 20 cans; five per person, excluding those containing less than eight ounces.

Q. If I had more cans than that, will the extra cans have to be turned in when rationing begins?

A. No, but one blue eight-point stamp will be taken out of ration book two for each can beyond the allowable five.

Q. Do I have to count all the canned foods in my home?

A. Count all the cans, bottles and jars containing eight ounces or more. Home-canned foods are not included and there are certain other exceptions.

Q. Exactly which foods are to be reported?

A. Include all the following: commercially canned (tin or glass) fruits (including spiced fruits), and vegetables, canned fruit and vegetable juices, all canned soups, chile sauce and catsup.

Q. Will stamps be deducted for canned foods which are part of an "emergency shelf" to be used only in case of an air raid or other disaster?

Must Include All

A. Yes. All cans of food to be rationed and weighing eight ounces or more must be included in the count.

Q. How and when will these extra cans be reported?

A. They will be reported to local rationing registrars when war ration book two is distributed, on a form called the "consumer declaration."

Q. Where will I get the form on which to report my extra stock of canned foods?

A. Watch for it to appear in your newspaper sometime after Feb. 15. Clip it out and fill in the facts on Feb. 21. Registration for war ration book two begins on Feb. 22 and you will save time by bringing a completed form with you.

Q. Will each member of the family fill out one of these forms?

A. No. Only one form will be used for the entire family. The form has a space for writing in the names of all members of the family unit.

Q. Do I include my housekeeper in this list of names? She lives with us and eats all her meals in our home?

A. No, list only the members of the family. Your housekeeper must fill out a separate declaration form.

Q. What other information will I be asked to supply on this consumer declaration?

A. The number of pounds of coffee the family had on hand on Nov. 28, 1942, less one pound for each person whose age is given as 14 or over on ration book one.

United Nations Must Collaborate After Battle Won

Sumner Welles Holds Military, Naval Cooperation Indispensable

(International News Service)

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Feb. 5.—Undersecretary of state Sumner Welles said on Thursday that loyal and unwavering military and naval collaboration of the United Nations will be just as indispensable in the years to come, after the battle is won, to make certain that peace is maintained.

Welles told the graduating class of Maryland University that "that is the greatest problem which lies before you as you graduate from this university and undertake the task of helping to defend your country."

Shunned Responsibility

The undersecretary said that if the U. S. had been willing a generation ago to bear its fair share of the responsibility for the maintenance of world order "the birth and the fantastic growth of those forces which crystallized into Hitlerism and Fascism and aggressive Japanese militarism would have been far less probable."

"In order to force from the enemies of mankind that unconditional surrender which is the only basis upon which this war can end, we require, and we are fortunately obtaining, the loyal and the unwavering cooperation for our armies, for our navies, and for our air power of the other members of the United Nations," he said. "We all of us recognize that this type of military and naval collaboration is essential in order to expedite the ultimate victory. It is not equally true that the same form of cooperation is just as indispensable in the years to come, after the battle is won, in order to make certain that peace is maintained, that international prosperity is assured, and that the human rights and liberties in which we believe are made everlastingly secure?

Youth Must Help

"You who will be doing the fighting and the working which will make it possible for us to gain this victory must equally be called upon to share in the determination of the course which your government follows at the conclusion of the war. You have before you as signals of warning the mistakes of judgment and the lack of foresight of my generation, and of the generation which preceded mine.

"The great question which lies before all of us is the question of how our people can best assure the safety of our nation in the years to come and can best safeguard the individual security of each of its citizens."

Home Front Death Toll 93,000 In '42

Safety Council Reports Cut In Traffic Death, Increase In Industrial Accidents

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Feb. 5.—Accidents on the home front in 1942 cost America the terrific toll of 93,000 killed, 9,300,000 injured and an estimated economic loss of $3,700,000,000, the National Safety Council reported on Thursday.

The council said the all-accident rate for 1942 was eight per cent lower than in 1941—a saving of 8,500 lives which, it added, was due to a 30 per cent cut in traffic deaths resulting from wartime speed and travel restrictions.

At the same time, the report revealed, industrial accidents increased three per cent compared with a seven per cent increase in non-agricultural employment.

The council emphasized that industrial time lost during the year through non-fatal injuries to workers alone was equivalent to a shutdown of the nation's entire shipbuilding and aircraft industries for 54 days.

If both fatal and non-fatal accidents to workers were included, the council calculated, the loss of time, material and damaged machinery was sufficient to have built 22,000 heavy bombers.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., with a population of 40,500, was the largest city among 54 having over 10,000 population to complete 1942 without a fatal motor vehicle traffic accident.

To Sell 100 Dear Pittsburgh Deer

High Cost Of Feed Causes Decision Of Commissioners To Sell Park Deer

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 5.—The Allegheny county commissioners had a dear deer problem on their hands today, and they decided to do something about it to reduce wartime overhead.

Because of higher prices for grain, which must be used to supplement winter grazing, the commissioners announced that they were going to sell 100 head of the herd of deer in North and South parks.

The commissioners also pointed out that tire and gas rationing will spell fewer visitors for the zoos this coming summer and that additionally, the herd is deteriorating through inbreeding.

But if you are thinking about buying a couple of head for nice venison steaks, then you might as well forget it. The commissioners said bidders must agree that the deer will be used only for stocking and breeding purposes.

New Identification For Emergency Cars

OCD Director Landis Announces Marking For Cars Operated In Air Raid Tests

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—Civilian Defense Director James M. Landis announced on Thursday a uniform system of identification for emergency vehicles permitted to operate during periods of real or practice air raid alarms.

Use of the uniform markings, recommended in all states, will be mandatory in the eastern defense command after the new air raid regulations go into effect February 17.

The primary means of identification for such vehicles will be a triangular white pennant on which is the civilian defense basic "CD" insignia in red. This must be attached to the vehicle whenever it is operated during an air raid alarm. At night, for quicker identification the pennant is to be supplemented by a headlight mask showing the basic "CD" in green.

Charitable contributions and gifts are deductible from gross income within certain limitations, and are shown as item 12 return Form 1040. Limitations as to deductibility are as follows:

1. Only contributions which are actually paid during the year for which the return is made are deductible. Subscriptions or pledges made but not paid are not deductible.

2. Gifts to an individual are not deductible.

3. The amount deductible is limited to 15 per cent of the net income before the deductions for contributions and medical expenses are taken. (That is, the amount allowable under item 11 of return Form 1040 may not exceed 15 per cent of the difference between the amount shown in item 11 and the deductions taken in items 13, 14, 15, 16, and 17 of the return form.)

4. Contributions to a political party or to any organization, a substantial part of the activities of which is carrying on propaganda or otherwise attempting to influence legislation, are not deductible.

5. Contributions to an organization, any part of the income of which goes to benefit any private shareholder or individual, are not deductible. 6. Contributions made in the form of one's personal services are not deductible. The donation of the use of one's automobile, or of one's premises (as for a picnic or garden party), is not deductible as a contribution, even though the organization for which the donation of use is made is one of the category to which contributions in cash or property would be deductible.

In the case of contributions by a partnership, the amount contributed must be apportioned to the partners and included in the contributions made by the partners for the purpose of determining the 15 per cent limitation.

Aide To President In Active Service

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5. — Capt. John L. McCrea, naval aide to President Roosevelt, has been relieved of his post to go on active naval service, the White House announced Thursday.

Capt. McCrea's tour of duty at the White Houseordinarily would not end until October. His successor as the president's aide will be Rear Admiral Wilson Brown.

McCrea will be given the command of what the White House described as "one of the navy's biggest and most powerful boats afloat."

NO STANDING ROOM FOR SUBWAY RIDER

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—Many a "knight of the road" can tell you what it's like to ride the brake rods but Carl Scheide, 32-year old war worker has an experience all his own.

Rushing to work, he fell from a subway platform between two cars of a train which had just started to move. He made a lucky grab and seized the air hose which he rode for almost a mile to the next station.

Scheide plans to continue riding the subway to work—but inside the cars, hereafter.

Flying Fortresses Make Heavy Raid On German Target

Stiff Resistance From Nazi Airmen Fails To Prevent Extensive Bombing

By DIXIE TIGHE
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

A U .S. FLYING FORTRESS STATION, Somewhere In England, Feb. 5.—Nazi airmen fought desperately yesterday to combat the second heavy all-American raid against the Reich but failed to prevent the Flying Forts from carrying out an extensive bombing of the selected target, crew members of the U. S. planes said today.

Informed sources said they believed this second American assault following the bombardment of submarine bases at Wilhelmshaven and Emden Jan. 27, was the heaviest Allied daylight attack ever made on the Reich.

Dog Fights On Return

Enemy fighter craft met the unescorted Americans as soon as they were in sight of Germany and they waged dog fights against them over much of the return journey, some pursuing the Forts half-way back across the English Channel.

Numerous Nazi planes were destroyed. Five Fortresses failed to return.

Additional damage was suffered by the Germans despite the fact one of the bombers from this station turned back from the mission because of a frozen ball turret. The plane was piloted by Lieut. William Beasley, of Hazelhurst, Miss. As Beasley peeled off from the formation he spotted a convoy of approximately 20 ships.

Beasley dropped his bombs and men still with the formation reported seeing direct hits on the convoy.

Wins Trip Home

A surprise welcome awaited Capt. William Krum of Scarsdale, N. Y., upon his return. When he set his Fortress down at the station he was told that he had a trip back home Krum and his crew were the first to receive this distinction.

"As soon as I have seen my family I am going to live off hamburgers and milk shakes," Krum declared.

The one thing that now worries Krum is that he has got to leave his Fortress, "Jack The Ripper."

His ship now has six Swastikas painted on it, one for each enemy plane it has destroyed.

He received the air medal with Oak Leaf Cluster for his feats with the outfit.

Krum's crew included First Lieut. Mark Gilman, Bridgeton, N. J.; First Lieut. William C. Leasure, navigator, of Clymer, Pa.; First Lieut. Robert Kicyla, Philadelphia; Technical Sgt. Peter Deboy, of Arbutus Md.; Staff Sgt. James O'Donnell Camden, N. J.; and Staff Sgt. Andrew Markle, of Lefever Falls Rosendale, N. Y.

House Against Silver Purchases

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5. — The house amid a Republican uprising that produced the stormiest session the new congress has yet seen, today tentatviely adopted an amendment to the $1,000,000,000 treasury-post office supply bill prohibiting use of any of the funds for the purchase of silver.

Advocates of the measure freely admitted that action would ultimately be designed to wipe out the new deal's entire silver purchasing program.

The vote on the amendment was 166 to 103. However, the house, at the time was sitting as a commtitee of the whole and it was possible that the action could be upset on a record vote later if the Democrats can rally their strength.

The amendment, as adopted, was sponsored by Reps. Celler (D) N Y;. and Wolcott (R) Mich.

School Children To Farm This Summer

Special Classes For Philadelphia Students While Working On Farms

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 5.—Quaker City school children today looked forward to a summer "down on the farm".

A plan, approved by the board of education, will set up special classes for high school students who will work on farms in eastern Pennsylvania and south Jersey, Dr. Alexander J. Stoddard, superintendent of schools, disclosed.

The courses, which will be a month long, will include such subjects as how to get along with farmers, how to be happy though working from sunrise to sundown, how to milk a cow and how to run a tractor.

The United States Employment Service hopes to place 1,000 such youngsters on nearby farms this spring and summer.

Probe Details Of Barge Contract

Government Has Spent $7,000,000 And Hasn't Received Barge As Yet

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—Congress today was given the details of how the government has spent $7,000,000 to date on a 23 barge construction project without receiving even one barge.

The story was unfolded before the senate Truman committee by Clifford E. McEvoy, president of the Clifford McEvoy Shipbuilding Corp., whose operations in its shipyards at Savannah, Ga., and a housing project in Winfield Park, N. J., are under scrutiny by the justice department.

Under questioning by committee counsel, McEvoy related how he obtained an original contract for five barges and a supplemental contract for 18 more, for a corporation that has no assets, stands to make a profit of $1,250,000 and hasn't yet delivered a barge.

Turned Over To F. B. I.

Sen. Harry S. Truman (D) Mo., committee chairman, announced several weeks ago, following a previous examination of McEvoy, that circumstances surrounding a Winfield Park, N. J., housing project, and the barge building contract at Savannah, had been turned over to the department of justice for investigation. The McEvoy company held contracts on both projects.

An amazing account of involved financial transactions between various corporations owned by McEvoy and his family, through which the bare building contracts were obtained, was brought out through questioning of McEvoy.

He said that the first barge on the original contract would be delivered February 28, a year behind schedule. Attaches of the Truman committee said today is the delivery date for the ninth barge on the supplemental contract.

Testimony brought out in the hearing revealed the contract price for the first five barges was $2,741,460, and that the company already has spent $4,466,855, of which $760,497 is charged to overhead.

The overhead, it was revealed at the hearing included salaries and expenses for numerous relatives of McEvoy and rental of equipment purchased months ago by two McEvoy subsidiaries, part of which was used in the Winfield Park housing project and part on the Savannah barge project.

NEW JAW FRACTURE TREATMENT FOR WAR USE IS REPORTED

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Feb. 5.—Hailed as a revolutionary advance in the treatment of wartime injuries of the type, a new method of setting fractured jaws by means of rustless pins was reported today in the first issue of the Journal of Oral Surgery of the American Dental association.

An important advantage, among others, is that it permits the speedy removal of the victim from war areas without aggravation of the injury.

Police Chase 'Monk'; 'Monk' Chases 'Cops'; Owner Nabs 'Monk'!

Bread And Cigarettes Used As Bait Not Liked By Croton Animal

Two policemen, William Allgier and Carl Wallace, figured in some monkey business yesterday afternoon in Harding street, Croton section, and today they reported they don't want any more monkey business.

A monkey is owned by a Harding street resident. In some manner it got loose and began wandering through the street.

One person who probably thought the monkey was a Jap bent on sabotage telephoned police headquarters.

The officers hurried to the scene and found the monkey on a porch.

Always adhering to the slogan "Be kind to dumb animals," one of the officers got some bread and advanced stealthily.

The monk seized the bread with one "hand" then grasped the officer's wrist with the other.

They broke out of the clinch and imagining that the monkey liked cigarettes, the other officer proffered one to the monk.

Da monk no lika datta beesaness, grited its teeth made a hissing sound and backed away.

Both officers made a dash to corral the animal.

It then attacked them.

They retreated and seeing the monkey did not have a collar or harness with which it could be grasped held a Casablanca, or "war council" and had decided to ask headquarters to send a lasso when—

The owner, a woman, walked across the street, commanded the monkey to come to her. It did and was returned to a garage where it is kept.

"We don't want any more monkey business," the officers agreed today.

Prepare To Freeze Labor In 32 Areas

Regional WMC Offices To Act "As Soon As Possible" On McNutt's Order

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—Regional offices of the War Manpower Commission today prepared to carry out Chairman Paul V. McNutt's order to freeze essential workers in 32 critical labor shortage areas "as soon as possible."

McNutt, in a broad statement of "employment stabilization" policy, also authorized the regional directors to order labor freezes in any area whether or not there is a labor shortage if such action is considered necessary "for the effective prosecution of the war."

Under the decree any worker in an essential industry can be employed only by an employer for work in another essential activity and only when the worker has obtained a written release from his former employer.

Consider Using War Prisoners As Farm Labor

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—Maj. John O. Waler, chief of the food production administration's labor division, today said that plans being discussed for alleviation of the critical farm labor situation include the possible use of war prisoners on a volunteer basis.

Walker, a retired army officer who was appointed two weeks ago to direct farm labor mobilization, said that the use of war prisoners "does not offer any considerable immediate prospects," but he added that "when we have them we might very well use them on American farms where the problem of guarding them can be solved."

FDR Requests Extra Billions For Navy

Funds Needed "To Provide For Contingencies Which Have Arisen"

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5. — President Roosevelt today asked congress to appropriate an additional $4,772,000,000 more for the navy—the money to be spent by the first of July of this year.

In a letter accompanying President Roosevelt's request, the budget bureau explained that the funds were needed "to provide for contingencies which have arisen" since the budget message for the present fiscal year was sent to congress.

The president requested $4,000,000,000 in cash, $210,000,000 in contract authorizations and at the same time asked for authority to increase the 1943 appropriations by $562,000,000.

The budget bureau said that the money was needed to "provide for additional requirements for the prosecution of the war."

The navy asked $7,500,000 for miscellaneous expenses; $2,900,000 for operation and conservation of naval petroleum reserves; $48,000,000 for the naval reserve; $4,845,000 for training; $850,000,000 for maintenance for the bureau of ships; $1,000,000,000 for ordinance and ordinance stores; $494,000,000 for pay, subsistence and transportation; $67,000,000 for medicine and surgery; $800,000,000 for yards and docks; and $417,000,000 for armament and ammunition.

The president also requested $562,000,000 for naval aviation.

Asks Senate Act On McNutt Edict, "Work Or Fight"

Vermont Senator Seeks Legislation To Back Up Executive Order Of WMC

By HORACE M. COATS

(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5. — Sen. Warren R. Austin (R) Vt., assistant Republican leader, today called upon congress to enact a war service act which would back up the recent "work or fight" edict of Paul V. McNutt, chairman of the War Manpower Commission.

"Mr. McNutt's order shows that he is doing the best he can with what he has," Austin said.

McNutt's order virtually directed all able-bodied men between the ages of 18 and 28 years to get into vital war work or be taken into the armed forces, regardless of their domestic status.

"Mr. McNutt now is acting under only an executive order," Austin said, "and he has no declaration of policy by congress which will show all men and women that their obligation in total war is an equal one.

"What the people and the War Manpower Commission need is a declaration by congress that fixes the liability of every man and woman competent to do non-combatant service in the war effort. It takes both fight and work to win the war."

Effect of the McNutt order, however, caused alarm among some members of the senate who expressed fear that the country is getting an army already that might be difficult to feed, equip and transport.

Bartenders Join Church In Fight

Opposing Hiring Of Women To Serve Liquor In Philadelphia Taprooms

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 5.—Bartenders today joined a church fight to prevent the hiring of women to serve liquor in Philadelphia taprooms.

Condemning a proposal by the Philadelphia Restaurant and Liquor Licensees' association to the legislature to okay women bartenders, the bartenders' union said that "nothing will bring back prohibition quicker than wome bartenders."

"The proprietors want them as a trade attraction, but all they'll do is promote prostitution," said Union President Harry Ames. "Besides, they figure on paying half what they pay men, and what do they think will happen when men return from the war and find women in their jobs."

Seek Leader Of New York Mob In Chicago Murder

Eddie McGrath Suspected In Bizarre Slaying Of "Queen Of Dice Girls"

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Feb. 5.—Eddie McGrath, ex-convict leader of a New York waterfront mob and lieutenant to Joe Adonis, Brooklyn racket king, was sought for questioning today in the bizarre murder of Estelle Carey one time "Queen of the Dice Girls," the Chicago Herald-American said today in a copyright story.

The dead girl had been sweetheart, confidante and banker of Nick Circella, alias Nick Dean, Capone syndicate collector in the stagehands union, and reputedly had "talked" recently to internal revenue agents investigating income taxes of the union's head men.

With Estelle's death came word that George E. Browne, Dean and Willie Bioff, all convicted of extorting millions from the Hollywood movie industry, had been giving valuable information to prosecutors in a New York federal lockup, which threw terror into the Capone syndicate and the eastern mob.

Son Inducted; He Halts Strike

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—His three-hour-old goodbye to his 18-year-old son reporting for Army induction still fresh in his mind, Police Captain John Collins just couldn't conceive a strike by workers producing medical supplies for the U. S. Army.

So today, sixty workers of the Acme laboratory equipment company are back at their benches working harder than ever.

Notified of the sit-down, in protest to delay of the war labor board in ruling on wage increase demands Captain Collins called at the plant and gave a lecture. He told of soldiers, like his son Tom, yet to be wounded, whose lives might be saved by medical equipment which his audience was failing to produce.

As a man, all sixty workers returned to their jobs with redoubled efforts to make up lost time.

MERCER EGG IS MARKED "V-2-Y"

(Special To The News)

MERCER, Feb. 5.—Mrs. Marvin McCoy is receiving quite a little publicity on hen eggs now displayed in the Corner Drug store window. The most unusual egg has a natural "V" on it, under which are a very distinct "2" and "Y", which some wishful thinkers are turning into a prediction for a victory within two years.

Two dozen eggs, all double-yolked, weigh 40 ounces.

The buffalo is able successfully to resist a single attacking lion, as a rule, but may be pulled down by two or three acting together.

Wampum At Mt. Jackson Tonight; Shenango Host To Bessemer

BROOKERS BATTLE NON-LOOP OPPONENT

Interest in the flaming Section 21 WPIAL race veers to Mt. Jackson and east New Castle tonight.

A third important tussle, involving New Wilmington and Union Township, carded on Union floor, is being played this afternoon. The towering "Greyhounds," leading the circuit with seven straight triumphs, try to preserve an unbeaten mark of 13 wins.

Fans will have their eyes focused on Mt. Jackson where Coy 'Springy' Craine and his Wampum high mates battle Mt. Jackson.

Scorer Adds Color

Craine's scoring exploits, which have attracted unprecedented attention throughout the district, add rare color to the contest. Lacking only 33 points of smashing the 375-point scoring mark he set last season, the colored center hopes to get at least 18 of the missing points.

On last Tuesday, "Springy" rocked the cage walls by potting 48

TITAN FIVE GIRDS FOR PITT INVASION

Crack Panthers Display Accuracy At New Wilmington Saturday

CARLSONMEN WIN SEVEN, LOSE ONE

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Feb. 5.—Westminster is in for a busy evening tomorrow night when Dr. H. C. Carlson and his University of Pittsburgh "Ice Cream Eaters" come to New Wilmington for the first engagement between the two schools this season.

The Titans have held the upper hand the last two years, winning twice, 53-48 and 41-36, but the Panthers come here with an impressive record of seven wins and one defeat by Ohio State. Pitt has scored victories over Bethany, West Virginia, Carnegie Tech, Penn State, Indiana and Geneva twice.

Titans Nab Four

Meanwhile the Blue and White can show a record of four wins and three losses. The Titans hold decisions over Bethany, Hiram, West Liberty and Geneva, while losing to Allegheny, Carnegie Tech and Duquesne by two points.

With the team just beginning to function smoothly, Coach Grover Washabaugh has been having more than his share of worries. Calling of the army's enlisted reserve corps to active duty shortly will take two, and possibly three, of the Titans. Don Heddleston, first-string East Liverpool freshman; Mike Reznik, reserve forward, and Ted Ossoff are in the ERC, although Ossoff's induction may be deferred since he is a senior and a math major.

If the Army Air Corps reserve is called to active duty, Washabaugh will lose his star center, Charley Goldblum, as well as reserve center, Don Bennett.

'Sugar'-LaMotta Encore Tonight

(International News Service)

DETROIT, Feb. 5.—A gate of $50,000 is expected tonight when Ray Robinson, the hard punching Negro welterweight from New York, and Jake LaMotta, classy middleweight from the Bronx, square off in Olympia in a 10 round bout.

Robinson remained a favorite in the betting but it appeared as if LaMotta was going to have a decided weight advantage. Both fighters agreed to enter the ring weighing under 160 pounds.

But Robinson yesterday tipped the beams at only 144 pounds while LaMotta just was on the 160 mark.

The bout tonight is in the nature of a return affair as the two fighters met previously in New York with Robinson taking a 10 round decision.

'Cane Passers Flip At Aliquippa Tonight

Locals Seek Revenge For 30-28 Setback Administered Recently

Determined to win back some of the prestige lost during the early days of the season, New Castle high cagers hop off to Aliquippa tonight for a Section 3 encounter.

The 'Canes opened the sectional campaign by losing a tough 30-28 decision to the Quips and like nothing better than to avenge the setback.

With Harvey Burris an alumni now, Coach Bridenbaugh plans using Jesse Gunn in the guard spot left open by the lanky colored athlete. Andrews and Jacobs, with a possibility that Wimer may break in, Zubkowsky, at center, and Fazzano at the other sentinel post round out the starting quintet.

Deadlocked for last place honors, the localites hope to crawl out of the ratskeller.

Meadows' Racing Card Is Scratched By Rubber Chief

Action Means Coast Won't See Gee-Gees Run For The Duration

(International News Service)

BAY MEADOWS, Cal., Feb. 5—Horse racing at Bay Meadows race track today became a war casualty at the request of Rubber Administrator William Jeffers.

The action was interpreted to mean that the Pacific Coast would have no more horse racing for the duration.

The death sentence for California racing followed a letter from Jeffers to Gov. Earl Warren. On receipt of the letter, Gov. Warren, Chairman Jerry Giesler of the State Racing Commission and Bay Meadows president William Kyne immediately agreed to cancel the recently scheduled spring season program.

Santa Anita, Hollywood Park and Del Mar in Southern California all have been closed since Pearl Harbor, while Bay Meadows had racing last fall and contributed heavily to charities.

Not Necessary

In his letter to Gov. Warren, Jeffers declared that because of the location of Bay Meadows south of San Francisco "the inevitable result will be wearing out of a great deal of rubber for a purpose in no way essential to the war effort or maintance of essential civil service." At the same time Jeffers was believed to have established a basis for horse racing throughout the nation—if tracks are located in metropolitan areas where transportation is available they may run.

Rickey Is Not Pessimistic—Yet

Sees No Immediate Need For Concern Over McNutt's 'Work Or Fight' Decree

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—Branch Rickey, president of the Dodgers, today saw no immediate need for concern over the war manpower commission's work-at-war-production-or-fight order because baseball was not listed among the published non-essential jobs.

". . . It is certainly to be assumed that the government did not leave out the job classification of baseball players by oversight," Rickey said. "If this assumption is correct, then the manpower commission must have believed that certain professional activities in the field of recreation should be continued . . ."

Putting aside what he termed the "pessimistic attitudes," of other club officials, Rickey pointed out that the 400 professional players in the country were not trained to do any other kind of work and that, if drafted, they could not be replaced by older men or women.

"If the 400 players in America now classed as 3-A can do a better job at anything other than playing this game," he declared, "we want to know the way to do it and we are anxious to do it."

CALDER, HOCKEY PREXY, IS DEAD

(International News Service)

MONTREAL, Que., Feb. 5.—Frank Calder, president of the National Hockey league, died Thursday following a short illness.

Stricken with a heart attack recently, Calder requested and received a three months' leave of absence. A native of Bristol, Eng., Calder was 65 years old.

It was under Calder's direction that the league grew from a local Canadian outfit into an international league with several United States teams participating. Development of big league hockey as played today was accomplished under his stewardship.

Zivic Major Test For Beau Tonight

Up And Down Pittsburgher Noted For Toppling Sensational Fighters

JACK INSTALLED AS 2-1 FAVORITE

By JACK MAHON
(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—The fighting workhorse known as Beau Jack may be knocked on his back at Madison Square Garden tonight. The kid, who came up from a bootblack's berth at the Augusta, Ga., Country club is to meet foxie Fritzie Zivic of Pittsburgh in a ten-rounder, is favored at 2-1 in the wagering and on his record should win.

But he is not the first who "should" have beaten the ever-amazing Mr. Zivic. Fritzie is a fistic freak. He always wins the tough ones.

Mind you we're not saying Zivic will knock out Beau, even beat him. We'd like to tip you off to a few things in the Fritz's past, however, so you won't go busting the baby's bank again to bet on the Beau.

Fritzie has been up and down, fistically speaking, more than the elevators in the building which houses Uncle Mike Jacobs' 20th Century Sporting club.

Up-Down Fighter

Each time he has been about to achieve fame of some sort he gets knocked over by some stumble-bum named Joe in a small club in the sticks. Then he goes out, whips a couple of lugs and winds up trimming the ears off a top notcher.

For example, the Fritz had beaten Sammy Angott in Pittsburgh and on the strength of that performance was brought to New York and matched with Henry Armstrong for the world's welterweight title.

He upset Henry, a big favorite, and took home the crown, the first ever to grace the mantle-piece in the fighting Zivic homestead in Pittsburgh.

Zivic kayoed Henry in a return

Mile Run Among Millrose Features

Track Stars From 21 Colleges Will Vie In New York Saturday

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—Track stars of 21 colleges will battle it out for the John G. Anderson memorial trophy, when the one-mile relay is run off in the Millrose A. A. invitation meet tomorrow night at Madison Square Garden, while officials today announced that twice the ordinary number of sprinters will take to te cinders.

The Anderson trophy, won last year by Fordham in 3 minutes 21.2 seconds, will go to the college making the fastest time in a series of six races, and the relay phase of the Millrose games is expected to comprise half the program.

Sprinters Galore

Thirty-two sprinters, instead of the usual 16, are listed, with the hottest sprinting duel in sight being that between the great Barney Ewell, now a private stationed at Camp Lee, Va., and Edward Conwell, sensational 18-year-old negro freshman at New York university. Ewell, national A. A. U. indoor champ and outdoor 100 and 220 titlist for three straight years, is opposing, in Conwell, a man who has never been beaten in a sprint race.

Seven colleges will run in two relays at two miles; seven will run in the interscholastic mile relay; six in the A. A. U. interclub handicap mile relay and five in the military mile relay.

The pairings for the intercollegiate mile relays follow:

1—Georgetown, Ohio State and Fordham.

2—N. Y. U., Notre Dame, Harvard and Dartmouth.

3—Villanova, Manhattan, Holy Cross and Boston College.

4—Columbia, Colgate, Pennsylvania and M. I. T.

5—Rhode Island State, Syracuse, St. John's and William.

6—Army vs. Navy.

The Army-Navy mile relay is the first ever to be run in the Garden.

markers against Darlington, running his season total to 343.

While Craine's unheard of knack of flipping the spheroid through the cords means a million dollars worth of publicity to the school, Wampum is more interested in remaining in the race.

Second in the standing, the "Indians" must cop their remaining half dozen clashes to gain a tie, provided New Wilmington wins all but the Wampum setto. Thus far, Wampum has annexed five out of six league frays and 15 out of 17 during the season.

The "Mounties", paced by Ed. Bradley, offered a few uneasy moments when they bucked the Wampumites recently. Setback 54-44, the Jacksonites weren't counted out until the waning moments of the third.

Another action-packed engagement is predicted.

Bessemer Confident

Rejuvenated Bessemer, confident of bagging its remaining half dozen sectional arguments, hopes to move closer toward that end in its embroglio with Shenango.

In the first Bessemer-Shenango tilt, the "Cementers" played in book style as they trampled the Nahascoached outfit, 40-12. With Grubisa in top shape, the Bessemerites should add a lot of fun to the marathon.

East Brook high steps out of the league's circle to meet Princeton, away from home.

BIG NAMES ENTER COAST TENNIS MEET

(International News Service)

LA JOLLA, Cal., Feb. 5.—Sporting an entry list that makes some national championships look like amateur tourneys, the second annual La Jolla beach and tennis club invitational meet begins Saturday.

Heading the men's singles will be Jack Kramer, national doubles kingpin; Lieut. Joe Hunt, U. S. Davis cupper, George Richards, Bob and Tom Falkenburg, John Sisson, Ben Press and a score of others.

Louise Brough, finalist in last summer's national women's championship, Dorothy Mae Bundy, Marie Jacks, Gertrude Moran and Marcheta Donnelly are included in the women's singles.

PHILLIP'S 107 TOPS BIG 10 HOOP LOOP

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Feb. 5.—Andy Phillip, Illinois ace, was back in the lead of the Western Conference basketball scoring race today.

After a layoff for semester examinations, Phillip picked up 15 points against Northwestern Monday for a 5-game total of 107 to regain the lead.

Ralph Hamilton, Indiana forward who got 11 points over the week end, was in second place with a 6-game total of 98. In third place was Iowa's Tom Chapman, last week's leader, who had a 6-game total of 94 points.

FAIR OR FOUL

By LAWTON CARVER
INS Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—Clark Griffith, smart old owner of the Washington Senators, will do baseball a lasting service if he fulfills expectations of buttonholding key members of the government in the next few days on the national pastime's place in the new work-or-fight program.

Some high officials have suggested that baseball and other sports build moral, and there has been a disposition to let the athletes operate, but as the baseball season approaches, the confusion and doubt is growing. It isn't unlikely that at about the time spring training is finished and all preparations made for the beginning of the pennant races the game will be killed off.

They might apply the axe now, instead of waiting until April or May, or they might tell baseball to make its plans with some assurance that nothing will be done until necessary.

No Harm In Asking

While nobody has a right to expect the answer from Washington until the officials are good and ready to supply it, there won't be any harm in Clark Griffith making some inquiries among his fellow-Washingtonians. If he can get guidance either way—for or against starting the season—one big industry will be able to pitch in on the war effort or go on about its business.

Clark Griffith is the one to dig into this if anybody can. He is better acquainted around Washington than the other baseball people because of his long residence there and may come up with the riddle all worked out very promptly.

Anyway, he has long been a staunch adherent to the idea that they never rule you off for trying.

Whether he will be justified in his reported plans to present a program providing for concessions to ball players, is one you can argue about all night. He surely won't make it look as though baseball is begging and he won't be doing any harm in trying to obtain for all baseball some indication of what to expect. And for other professional sports as well, although baseball and horse-racing are about the only pro activities left on a big scale.

Perhaps the whole story of the immediate future of sports is contained in one paragraph of the articles from Washington on the new rulings—the paragraph which says:

"A manpower commission spokesman commented that 'you can bet' that ball players and other professional athletes will be included on the next list of professions whose members between the ages of 18 and 38, inclusive, with dependents, will no longer rate deferments."

If the unidentified gentlemen who spoke those lines knows what he's talking about he was reading the requiem on sports.

Zivic Fooler

Speaking about manpower, that Fritzie Zivic of Pittsburgh, is around again preparing for a fight, this time with Beau Jack, and causing most veteran boxing observers to wonder just how many more years he will be able to crank up and turn it on in the ring.

A surprising number give him a chance to interrupt the New York commission lightweight champion's current streak, if Zivic is in a fighting mood Friday night. He is still a pretty good fighter at his best and everybody agrees there is no telling just how many more years he will be throwing leather.

match but then blew the title to Freddie (Red) Cochrane. The night he lost the crown, Zivic was as high as an 8-1 favorite in the betting!

Fritz went around the country knocking over everyone he met and was soon back "on top" at the Garden. He was put in with Ray Robinson, lost the decision and later was knocked out by the Sugar Kid.

Zivic hit the road again, won some more fights, was brought back to the Garden where he beat the ears off Cochrane in an overnight match and then kayoed the highly regarded (at that time) Marine Garvey Young.

Fritz was riding high so they sent him out to the coast to meet Armstrong who was coming along the comeback trail. You guessed it, this time Henry gave Zivic a drubbing!

Fought 163 Bouts

This should give you a fair idea of how mysterious this young man is. He's only 29 but has fought for 12 years and engaged in 163 fights!

Beau Jack has only been battling two and a half years as a pro and while he is tough, ambitious and a rattling good little battler, the Fritz's "savvy" and tendency to "win when it counts" may prove the difference.

It's only a ten rounder, too. That is definitely in the "old guy's" favor.

Mr. Zivic is a bit irked at the writers who have been scribbling that he might be "washed up".

"They wrote that before the first two fights with Armstrong," beefed Fritz. "They will still be writing that a couple of years from now."

Some of the persons who draw pay-checks for their bread from the people of the city formerly cavorted on diamond or in the ring. F'rinstance the director of parks and property Joe Alexander was quite an infielder and not only "brought out" Mickie Solomon, now in the Marines, as a middleweight boxer but also piloted Emmett Rocco, heavyweight fighter of Ellwood City. The traffic lieutenant, Tommy Jones, was a lightweight and while in the merchant marine, Jimmie Steiner basked in the limelight as a featherweight. He fought several times in this vicinity. He also played baseball and pitched for the police team. Mike Fazzone, traffic policeman, trained the Leasures. Les is with the Marines overseas and Russell is the current A.A.U. regional welterweight champion. Tom Farrow, a patrolman fought as a member of Jimmie Dime's stable in the fag end of Jimmie's managerial career.

There was a famous colored team of boxers known as the Gold Dust Twins who "fought" throughout Ohio rings. However, they ne'er caused any more enjoyment than the Elmo the Mighty vs. Warren Farrow battles. Whenever Elmo was not on a local card, the fans would rant: "We want Elmo, we want Elmo". As a reward for his efforts to amuse the fans years ago he is always welcome to all fights held here. In fact, no ex-fighter has ever been turned away from the gate. The courtesy is always extended.

One of the boys who adopted the style of fights of Ye Old school was Dutch Siler of Cincinnati. The Dutchman grew a mustache which got him publicity. He had more than ordinary ability and became a card in that city. Fred Bach who had a gym across the Rhine managed Dutch. We sat in on one of Dutch's fights and saw Tony Zill of Youngstown clip his mustache with some jabs then lay him low with a left hook to the stomach and a right to the jaw.

Fifty thousand dollars worth of customers are expected to see the Fritzie Zivic-Beau Jack fight in New York tonight, which will begin about 10 p. m., E. W. T. . . . As soon as Harry Bobo can present a certificate from any eye specialist on the staff of a Pittsburgh hospital that his eyesighe is o. k., he will be reinstated by the state boxing commission.

Helen Jacobs, tennis star, now training to be a WAVE, has announced she is through with the big-time court game. Writing is her profession and history her hobby, she stated at Northampton, Mass. . . . Frank Calder, Montreal, died yesterday. He made the National Hockey league work. . . . Penn State and Syracuse amateur boxers will exchange punches at State College Saturday.

Will Lift Bobo Ban If Fighter Passes Eye Test

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 5.—Harry Bobo, Pittsburgh Negro heavyweight, will have to pass an eye examination at a local hospital before the state athletic commission's ban will be lifted, it was announced Thursday following a brief meeting of officials in the Pittsburgh office.

Eddie Kapphan, Bobo's manager, offered Commissioner Leon Rains of Philadelphia a letter from a local physician stating that his fighter's vision was almost normal, 20-20 in the left eye and 20-30 in the right.

Rains said he would insist on the hospital examination first, and if it is established that Bobo's right eye is in sufficiently good condition to permit fighting, the ban would be lifted.

Bobo was barred from Pennsylvania rings about six months ago when the commission ruled that he was almost blind in his right eye. Since then, however, Bobo has been fighting out of Pennsylvania.

Grovers Are Hosts To Penguins Tonight

GROVE CITY, Feb. 5.—Grove City college basketball squad, at home once this year due to schedule troubles, will be host to the crack Youngstown college five tonight. The Glovers who broke a four-game losing streak against Penn college at Cleveland Saturday, have little hope of extending the victory column, although a better showing is certain than in the first meeting of the teams, won by Youngstown, 81 to 44.

Leo Mogus, who is "Mr. Baskets" to Youngstown fans, will be the chief stumbling block for the Grovers, as he was when he scored 43 points in the December game. Rated the best performer ever to represent a Youngstown school, the Buckeye center has been scoring almost at will against all opponents.

Four Junior Loop Cage Tiffs Saturday

Followers of the Junior Church Basketball league will see another round of action Saturday afternoon starting at 4:15 o'clock on the Y court.

The opener pairs Croton and Central Presbyterians. At 6:15 the Third U. P. and Trinity pitchers prance on the boards, after which Central Christians and Epworths battle. Second U. P. and First Christians complete the action.

Classroom Trouble Costs Dukes Barry

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 5.—Duquesne University's hopes of equalling the first half record of eight wins and one loss on the court were dimmed somewhat today with the loss of John Barry, 20-year-old Munhall star who was dropped from school because of classroom deficiencies.

The Dukes meet Geneva tomorrow night, and Coach Chick Davies planned to use sophomore John Lapinski in the pivot role. Barry, a freshman, had played a prominnet part in Duquesne's victory string and was the second center lost this season.

Joe Camic, tabbed the best one on the squad, was inducted into the army recently.

DETROIT PUCKERS GAIN ON BOSTON

(International News Service)

Detroit Red Wings gained two points on the first place Boston Bruins in the National Hockey League race. The Wings scored a 3 to 2 victory over the Maple Leafs at Toronto to boost their point standing to 42 while the Bruins, with a point standing of 46, were idle.

In New York, the Chicago Black Hawks, fourth in the standings, had to be satisfied with a 1-1 tie with the Rangers.

He had been a resident of this city for many years and had many friends. He was a member of the Eagles lodge and the German club.

Immediate survivors are six children, Mrs. Chester Hazen, Mrs. William Bonzo, Mrs. Kenneth Stroehecker, Mrs. Clarence Kennedy, this city; Mrs. William Coccia, Coraopolis, and Dorothy and Fred, at home; one sister, Mrs. John Kloose of Alliance, O., and 17 grandchildren.

Ellwood Council Meets Thursday

Another Engineering Company Will Be Employed To Survey Ellwood Water Co.

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 5.—A motion to hire the Burns and McDonald Engineering company to recheck the survey of the Ellwood Water company made by the Chester Engineering company toward the proposed plan to purchase the company by the municipal authority, was passed by the Ellwood council at the regular meeting last night.

A communication from the Northeastern Water company, owners of the plant, was tabled without being read by a 5 to 5 vote of the council. The communication contained the price offered by the company for the purchase of the plant. Members objecting to the reading of the letter said they did not wish the price to become public at the present time. It is known to be well over a million dollars.

Approval was given for the purchase of a used limestone crusher. It will cost $800 plus transportation costs and $180 for additional power equipment.

It was said that oral approval for a priority rating had been received for the purchase of a 65-foot aerial truck for the fire department. It was decided to re-advertise for bids so that council would be a step farther toward the purchase when the written approval is received.

Improvements to the sewage disposal plant will be started by the Chester Engineering company, but will not likely be finished before the end of the war because of material shortages.

Ordinances were submitted prohibiting the use of gasoline as a heating or cooking unit unless installed and inspected by an authority, and for the burning of leaves, papers, or other inflammable materials in the business sections of the city. Before further action is taken, each member will receive a copy for study. The gasoline ordinance is an aftermath of the fatal gasoline explosion last fall at an Ellwood football game.

An extension of time was refused to the New Castle Duntile company for the completion of Pershing street, near the housing project.

Nine calls were answered by the fire department during the month with the total damage being $115. No cases of contagion were reported. Tax collections were listed at $136 for 1941 and $944 for 1942.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL

Together we stand, divided we fall . . . No truer words were ever spoken. To keep together we must keep awake. There is not one person in this community who would not give their all to really further the War Effort. The people here would gladly GIVE FREE their cars and whatever else was necessary if it would help bring the war to an end . . . but they don't want to give up their cars if those same cars are going to be used by some flunky to drive all over the country. When things are ordered, why doesn't the office who issues the orders give a really worthwhile explanation. Are the American people being lead around by the nose? This is a country for the people, of the people and by the people. Let's keep it that way for those boys who are taking it on the battle fronts. Don't pass rumors and don't sleep all of the time.

A. T. Kissinger dedicates this little poem to all the Mothers who have sons in the service of their country.

Remember tonight as you kneel in prayer,
God is still on His throne;
As you pray for the lads who are over there
Your neighbor's sons and your own.

Remember tonight as you kneel in prayer,
You have a God that never sleeps;
He rules the land, the sea and air,
And ever a faithful vigal keeps.

Remember tonight as you kneel in prayer
Your own son so brave and true;
Tonight out there, Only God knows where
Is fighting and praying for you.

HAMMER JAPS IN NEW GUINEA AREA

AS ALLIED ARTILLERY smashed against Japanese lines in the Salamaua area, four Japanese bases in the New Guinea-New Britain area were raided by Allied heavy bombers. Bases raided were Finschhafen and Wewak on New Guinea and Rabaul and Cape Gloucester on New Britain. Land installations, airdomes, shipping were hit hard. Arrow indicates the new drive launched by the Allies toward these major Jap bases now that the Papuan area has been cleaned up.

DOES SHE HAVE EVERYTHING?

NOT MUCH ELSE seems to be needed by a member of the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps after she has packed her barracks bag with the articles the Army decrees for overseas service. Pictured above are the contents of one of the bags carried by the WAACS who have been sent to North Africa. Included are, from top to bottom, helmet, wool cap worn under helmet, webbed belt, first aid kit, mess kit, gas mask and bag, shoes, goggles, dust respirator, lingerie, gloves, hose, sewing and manicure kits, heavy sweater, pajamas, wool underwear, bath towels, toilet kit, utility bag, cap, snapshot case and barracks slippers. That's all! And that's enough, isn't it?

U. S. FLYERS HIT TUNISIAN PORT

WAACS AND WAVES HEADS MEET

Leatherneck Now

A NATIVE of Sicily, James A. Vinci, 22, was forced to serve in the Italian Army when he returned to his native land for a visit from his American home in 1938. He was badly injured when his fighter plane was shot down in battle in Ethiopia and was granted a medical discharge and permission to visit the United States. Instead of returning to Italy, he joined the United States Marine Corps in which he now holds the rank of corporal, above. (Official U. S. Navy Photo)

Adrift Five Days

RESCUE of Brig. Gen. Nathan F. Twining, commander of the U. S. Army 13th Air Force, and 14 companions from two rubber liferafts on which they drifted for five days and six nights in the Coral sea has been revealed by the Army. Their bomber was forced down at sea when it ran out of gas. General Twining is pictured, left, at a Pacific airfield with Capt. Martin Teem of Ellejay, Ga. (C. P. Phonephoto)

THE GENERAL TAKES A PEEP

LOOKING OVER one of the strong points under his command is Lieut. Gen. George H. Brett, chief of U. S. forces in the Caribbean area. He is shown at Curacao, Dutch West Indies, on a recent inspection tour.
